

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

1936 - 1937

1871
1872
1873
1874
1875
1876
1877
1878
1879
1880
1881
1882
1883
1884
1885
1886
1887
1888
1889
1890
1891
1892
1893
1894
1895
1896
1897
1898
1899
1900

B
R
O
W
N

DR. ALBERT DAVIS MEAD, Vice President Emeritus, from the new Sayles Hall portrait by Ellen Emmet Rand.

ALUMNI MONTHLY

JULY, 1936

Vol. XXXVII, No. 2

IT'S RISKY TO CARRY CASH ... use TRAVELERS' CHEQUES

You will agree that there is always some risk involved in carrying cash when traveling. And you will agree, too, that if you should lose cash, your chances of having it returned are very slim indeed. Now, with Travelers' Cheques this sort of risk is done away with. Should you lose them, the amount involved is refunded to you.

Travelers' Cheques are a special form of money made to protect those who travel. And they are just as spendable as cash. Try them on any trip you take—to New York, on a cruise, on your vacation—whenever you go away from home.

And when we change your money into Travelers' Cheques we will gladly help you with other matters concerning your trip. Just ask at our Foreign Department or at any of our offices.

Rhode Island
Hospital National Bank
Pawtucket — Providence — Woonsocket

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Vol. XXXVII

PROVIDENCE, R. I., JULY, 1936

No. 2

The 168th of Brown Commencements

IN a drenching rain, reputedly the first Commencement rain since 1892, a host of Brown alumni and 370 Brown Seniors marched down the Hill on June 15 in token of the graduation of the latter in traditional exercises in the First Baptist Meeting House. From abroad and from all parts of America the grads had returned for a week-end with their classmates, a visit to old scenes, and a renewal of their ties with the University. As always, they found themselves rewarded for their return "as pilgrims devout to the shrine of Old Brown."

Commencement was marred by the illness of Dr. Barbour, which kept him from participating in any of the University functions. Brunonians were assured that their president was better, but others assumed his privileges on Class Day, in the Baccalaureate Service, in the awarding of degrees, and in greeting the alumni at the Sayles Hall assembly. The customary President's Reception was cancelled.

The weather, too, traditionally kindly in its regard for Brown festivities and ceremonies, was relentless over the week-end, driving reunion classes indoors and allowing only the Class Night dances to continue in the open.

BUT it was still a memorable Commencement, marked by the presence of notables who were created Brown men in the conferring of honorary degrees, by an enthusiastic alumni luncheon and assembly, and by the awarding of baccalaureate degrees to 255 men and 115 women. Perhaps the final degrees of Bachelor of Philosophy were granted this year, only three Seniors receiving this. A. B. degrees were earned by 336, Bachelor of Science by 4, Bachelor of Science in Engineering by 23, and Bachelor of Science in Chemistry by 3.

Of the candidates who marched to the Meeting House two were outstanding. One was John W. Tukey of New Bedford, who never went to high school or preparatory school, yet graduated in his Junior year after three years of study, with all possible honors, including final highest honors in chemistry. He had prepared himself for Brown under the tutelage of his parents.

Prolonged applause greeted another graduate as he mounted the rostrum to receive his diploma. He was Jack Despres of Lime Rock, Lincoln, R. I., who is blind. He was accompanied, as he was through the last of his undergraduate years, by his shepherd dog, Gypsy. Despres had a job waiting for him when he left the campus. He had been a good student, active in undergraduate activities (as a list of his interests in the Liber revealed), often attending football and other athletic contests, and a popular classmate.

Degrees were conferred by Dr. Hermon Carey Bumpus, Senior Fellow, while Vice-President Albert D. Mead presided of the Commencement, the 168th annual affair of its kind.

SECRETARY of State Cordell Hull and Prof. George H. Blakeslee of Clark University were the principal speakers at the Alumni assembly in Sayles Hall, discussing threats of war in a world that needs peace.

Prof. Blakeslee declared that if Roger Williams were to return, he might well marvel at the material progress of the present world but would be pained at the lack of freedom of thought and speech in many of the great nations of the earth and would report with surprise and distress that in the field of international relations there is no knowledge of "how the nations of the world may live together without war."

Prof. Blakeslee said that our new neutrality legislation gives no guarantee that we will stay out of the next general war. He held such a possibility extremely unlikely, but even were it realized, he said, this nation could not escape the economic consequences of a general war. The problem, he said, is not merely keeping our country out of a world war, "but we should think more about keeping war out of our world."

He urged an adequate reorganization of the League of Nations to "make possible and expedient the co-operation of the United States," as "probably the best step which could be taken in the interest of the world as a whole, and indirectly of the United States."

SECRETARY Hull said "no nation is better than the individuals who compose it," and urged an enlightened public opinion as a means of meeting the problem of maintaining peace.

"War is sometimes described as the last resort of the statesman," he said. "I should rather say that recourse to war as a means of attaining the aims of national policy is an unmistakable symbol of bankrupt statesmanship."

"But the statesman is only an instrument of national action. The mainsprings of that action lie in the will of the people. . . . In the long run, statesmen can act only within the limits of the popular will, which finds its expression through the various agencies of public opinion. It is the trend of such opinion that determines fundamentally the course of a nation's policy."

The faculty and student body at Brown were at present at their highest level in the University's existence, said the presiding officer, Dr. Edwin A. Locke '96, health director of Williams College. He conducted his duties in splendid fashion, introducing the speakers with wit and grace. Greetings of the State were brought by Governor Theodore Francis Green, who offered his opinion that college education should be taken to enlarge one's taste and interest, and enrich one's mental and social life, not necessarily as training for a white-collar job.

Alumni and other friends of Brown filled Sayles Hall to capacity and were rewarded with one of the most stimulating programs in recent years.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

From More Than 2,000 Alumni

Not the largest but certainly the most heartening of all gifts to the University announced at the June Commencement was that from the Alumni Fund for 1936. Subsequent additions slightly increased the figure made public originally so that the last announced total was $27,262.49. It came from 2,196 individuals, an increase of 791 alumni or 56.3 per cent over 1935. The total for 1935 had been $18,008.08 ($15,582.78 in 1934) so that increase was one of 51 per cent.

In addition the Alumni Fund trustees announced that 228 men of the class of 1936 (89 per cent of this year's graduates) have pledged $895 to be paid in the next academic year. New methods by the Fund trustees in educating the graduating classes into some of their responsibilities as alumni were shown fruitful also in the total of $354.50 from 119 men of the class of 1935, highest of any class junior to 1911.

Best class record was that of 1868 with its one member contributing to make the percentage 100. All but four classes showed a gain in number of givers over the preceding year, all but nine in amount given. Only one of the special district solicitations groups failed to improve its previous record.

Wrote Vice-President Adams in congratulating W. Granville Meader, chairman of the Alumni Fund Trustees: "It is evident that the Alumni Fund is becoming a more and more important part of the financial structure of the University and that Alumni in larger and larger numbers are recognizing the Alumni Fund as an agency through which they can give expression to their loyalty to the University and their interest in its work and welfare."

* * * * *

The Honorary Degrees

DISTINGUISHED services to mankind in a number of important fields in the conferring of 11 honorary degrees at the Brown Commencement this year, three of the awards being made to alumni of the University. Dr. Hermon Carey Bumpus, senior member of the Board of Fellows, read the citations.

Prof. William T. Hastings placed the hoods on the shoulders of the recipients, who were escorted to the platform by Prof. Robert F. Chambers.

The recipients were:

Cordell Hull, Secretary of State of the United States, "successor in this high office to four sons of Brown"; General Charles Pelot Summerall, former Chief of Staff of the United States Army and now president of The Citadel, military college of South Carolina; Prof. George Hubbard Blakeslee, professor of history and international relations at Clark University; Victor Hugo Paltsits, chief of the American history division of the New York Public Library; Matt B. Jones, former president of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company; Rev. Charles Lyon Seasholes, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Dayton, O.; Rev. Charles Townsend, rector of St. Stephen's Church, Providence; Captain William McGregor, vice-president of the Blackstone Valley Gas and Electric Company and a civic leader in Pawtucket.

Three alumni received honorary degrees as follows:

EDGAR ALLEN '15, Doctor of Science: Providence born and Brown bred; already recipient of three degrees in course from his Alma Mater; well-remembered student and assistant in Biology at Brown; successful teacher and administrator in two great universities in the Middle West; now head of the Department of Anatomy in the Yale School of Medicine; enthusiastic, original and trustworthy investigator; skillful co-ordinator of the results of other workers; directing fundamental biological researches into the realm of human welfare.

JOSEPH LEWIS WHEELER '06, Doctor of Letters: Returning on the thirtieth anniversary of his graduation bringing to his Alma Mater a proud record of achievement; outstanding genius in the planning and conduct of public free libraries; as a student lured into his professional orbit by the attraction of the John Hay Library; masterful student of the psychology and viewpoint of the reading public; by suiting practice to theory and matching energy with diplomacy, vastly extending the scope and usefulness of public libraries as agencies of popular education and enlightenment.

EDGAR SHEFFIELD BRIGHTMAN '06, Doctor of Letters: Trained in philosophy first in our own graduate school and later in German universities, fellow of American and foreign learned societies, professor in Boston University and now president of the American Philosophical Association, who through his lectures on several distinguished foundations and his numerous scholarly volumes has become widely known as a leading exponent of philosophical personalism.

* * * * *

The Baccalaureate Message

ASSURING the members of 1936 of the "Moral Liability of Being Intelligent," Dr. Charles N. Arhuckle, Brown Trustee and pastor of the First Church, Newton Centre, Mass., delivered this year's baccalaureate sermon in the First Baptist Meeting House, Providence. Intelligence alone is not enough, he said, in urging the Seniors to apply the working knowledge gained in college days to the life of the world.

President Barbour, ill at home through the Commencement week, thus was comforted in knowing that his friend had offered good baccalaureate advice in his stead. Vice-President Mead presided in the University's behalf, while Rev. Arthur W. Cleaves, pastor of the church, offered the benediction and the Brown choir under Prof. Arthur B. Hitchcock sang several musical selections. Rain forced the customary march down the hill to be abandoned.

* * * * *

The Alumni Elections

FIVE alumni trustees, nominated by the popular ballot of 7000 degree holders of Brown University, to serve for six years, and election of the new member of the Athletic Council by the alumni to serve for two years, were announced by Chancellor Henry D. Sharpe at the annual alumni meeting in Sayles Hall, Brown University.

For the three Baptist vacancies the following were nominated:

Claude R. Branch, '07, of Seekonk, Mass., former special assistant to the United States Attorney General, to succeed James M. Pendleton, '85, of Westerly.

Leon F. Payne, '07, of Dallas, Tex., vice-president, treasurer and director of the Oil Well Supply Co., to succeed Howard A. Coffin, '01, of Detroit.

Ralph M. Palmer, '10, New York, president of the Ferro-Nil Corp., to succeed Hunter S. Marston, '08, of New York.

The nominee for the single Episcopal vacancy is Hugh

W. McNair, '17, of Great Neck, N. Y., district manager of the New York Telephone Co., to succeed Prof. Zechariah Chafee, Jr., '07, of Cambridge, Mass.

For the Quaker vacancy, the nominee is Donald B. Snyder of Boston, not an alumnus of Brown, treasurer and publisher of the Atlantic Monthly, to fill the post left by L. Ralston Thomas, '20, of Providence, who was elected a life trustee by the Corporation last fall.

Elected to the Athletic Council is Edward T. Richards, '27, attorney of Providence, to succeed Byron S. Watson, '97, of Providence.

* * * * *

63 Advanced Degrees

ADVANCED degrees were awarded to 63 men and women, representing nearly 40 colleges and universities from various parts of the country when Brown University held its annual Graduate School Convocation this year in Sayles Hall. Of those conferred, 34 degrees were M. A., 8 M. Sc., and 21 Ph. D.

Speaker of the occasion, introduced by Vice-President Mead, was Dr. Roscoe Pound, dean of the faculty of the Harvard Law School, an honorary alumnus of Brown.

"Generally diffused learning, the higher the better, is a solvent of fears and superstitions and a dissipater of credulity," he said. "It is the best antidote for the teachings and doctrines and social projects men seek to keep down by repression and imagine they may keep down by repression of learning. Only widely diffused higher learning in a democracy can uproot the idea of teaching as propaganda, of an authoritative handing out of standard information as something to be taken at face value and learned by rote, implanted in the public mind by the analogy of elementary education."

"The Place of Higher Learning in American Life" was his topic, and one of the several objects of his academic indignation was the Massachusetts Teacher Oath law. A throttling of higher learning, he said, has always been the first manifestation of an abandoning of democratic ideals. "A democracy, if demos is ignorant, may be as tyrannous as any autocracy. . . . As things are at the moment, perhaps the professional schools have the most clearly defined aims, know best what to do, and so function best to meet the needs of the time."

Among Brown alumni who received advanced degrees were the following: M. A. — John B. Chafee, Richard V. Clemence, Simon J. Copans, Harold L. Dean, Edward Haines Gauthier, Charles J. Jones, Arthur L. Lawrence, Sylvester K. M. Robertson, Cyril G. Sargent, Joseph S. Stookins, John B. Thayer, Norman H. Whitehead. M. Sc. — Kenneth L. Godfrey, William V. Loebstein, Maurice E. Marks, Ph. D. — Carl L. Carlson, John B. Rae. Dean Richardson of the Graduate School presented the candidates.

* * * * *

Dr. Barbour's Recovery Gradual

BROWN men, who missed their President during the Commencement proceedings, will be glad to know that Dr. Barbour continues to make slow but definite progress toward recovery. Illness that overtook him just as the Commencement week was about to begin kept him from participating in any of its events.

On July 7th he was reported downstairs for dinner for the first time.

Gifts to Brown

A BEQUEST of $100,000 from the estate of Lucian Sharpe and a bequest of $63,000 from the estate of Wilfred H. Munro top the list of gifts to Brown University since Commencement Day, 1935, Henry D. Sharpe, chancellor of the university, announced in Sayles Hall on Commencement Day. The grand total this year is $262,125.50. Last year the total was $249,837.42.

The Lucian Sharpe bequest is an addition to the Lucian Sharpe Fund, while "a real property interest valued at $63,000 from the estate of Wilfred H. Munro" will be used for the establishment of the Munro-Goodwin-Wilkinson Professorship Fund.

The list of donations is as follows:

From the Alumnae Fund a total of $5300 presented by the alumnae of the university for the use of Pembroke College.

From the Estate of Lucian Sharpe, $100,000 as an addition to the Lucian Sharpe Fund.

From the Estate of Wilfred H. Munro, a real property interest valued at $63,000 for the establishment of the Munro-Goodwin-Wilkinson Professorship Fund.

From the Estate of George Eddy Warren, $10,000 to establish the George Eddy Warren Fund.

From the Estates of Robert Grant Martin and Helen Grant Martin, $6505 as an addition to the Robert Mitchell Martin Fund.

From the National Research Council a grant of $9000 for the support of special research in the Department of Biology.

From the Rockefeller Foundation, a grant of $9000 for the support of special research in the Department of Biology.

From the Carnegie Corporation, a grant of $2000 for the support of the Community Art Project.

From the Rockefeller Foundation a grant of $1000 for special work on the Harris Collection of American Poetry.

From the Brown Club of Providence, $1200 for the Brown Club of Providence Scholarships for the academic year 1935-36.

From the surviving members of the Class of 1875, $401.50 to establish the Class of 1875 Fund in memory of William H. Scott, and from Lillian A. Bamford, $1000 as an addition to this Fund.

From the Estate of Wilfred H. Munro, $2000 to establish the Wilfred H. Munro Library Fund.

From the Estate of Cary C. Bradford, $2500 as an addition to the Class of 1877 Fund.

From the Estate of Jessie C. Knight, $1840 as an addition to the Jessie C. Knight Fund.

From Alumni and Friends of the University, $1200 to provide X-ray examinations for members of the entering class.

From Mrs. Letta I. Collins, $1000 to establish the Ruth Electa Collins Premium in French.

From "Alumni and Friends of the University," $975 for Scholarships for Junior Year Abroad.

From "Alumni and Friends of the University," a total of $2580 in gifts and pledges to date to inaugurate and support the new Yachting Program for undergraduates, including $1000 from the class of 1931 and $200 from the class of 1906.

From Jesse L. Rosenberger, $900 as an addition to the Susan Colver Rosenberger Prize Fund.

From Mrs. Sophia B. Louittit, $500 for the William Easton Louittit Scholarship for the academic year 1935-36.

From the Brown Club of New York, $500 for the Brown Club of New York Scholarship for the academic year 1935-36.

From Miss Marjorie Brownson in memory of her sister Isabel Brownson, $500 for the use of Pembroke College.

From Mrs. Alfred L. Lustig, $500 as an addition to the President's Premium.

From the undergraduates of Pembroke College, $729 for emergency financial aid to students of Pembroke College and for the reconstruction of the field house on the Pembroke College Playing Field.

From Charles W. Parmalee, $300 for the use of the Department of Biology.

From the Class of 1936 at the Men's College, $300 for general purposes.

From the Rhode Island State Federation of Women's Clubs, $250 for the Federate Clubs Scholarship at Pembroke College.

From the Rhode Island Women's Club, $250 for the Rhode Island Women's Club Scholarship at Pembroke College.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

From the Class of 1907, $250 as an addition to the Class of 1907 Loan Fund.

From a Friend of the University, $250 for special purposes.

From the Class of 1931 on its Fifth Reunion, $2,000, of which $1,000 is to be applied to the Yachting Fund and $1,000 is for the establishment of the Class of 1931 Scholarship Fund.

From the Class of 1909, $1,000 to be added to the Class of 1909 Fund established in 1934.

From the Class of 1911, pledge to establish the Class of 1911 Fund through life insurance policies maturing at $10,000.

From the Class of 1914, the sum of $1200 for construction of a hut at the Brown outing reservation in Greenville.

From the Class of 1906, $200 to be applied to the Yachting Fund.

* * * * *

The March Down the Hill

CHIEF marshal of the procession was Robert C. Murphy, '11, and his chief of staff was E. Tudor Gross, '01. Vice President Mead took President Barbour's place in the line, marching with Chancellor Henry D. Sharpe and Prof. Leighton T. Bohl, bearer of the mace, which has now been in possession of the university for about 10 years.

There were four divisions in line, with the graduating classes of the university and of Pembroke College in the second division. The line moved to the slow beat of that familiar tune, which is as much a part of the Commencement procession at Brown as the presence of the sheriff.

In the first division of the procession were the Board of Fellows, led by their marshals, Albert A. Baker, '84, and Charles H. Merriam, '92; the Board of Trustees, led by the Marshals Albert L. Midgley, '01, and Edson R. Rand, '29; and the invited guests, judges of courts, candidates for honorary degrees, the mayor and Governor and their marshals, Prof. Robert F. Chambers and Prof. William T. Hastings. Clarkson A. Collins, '08, was aide in charge of the first division.

The second division, under the direction of Aide-in-Charge Francis M. Smith, '93, were the faculty, with the marshals Prof. Robert H. George and Prof. Benjamin W. Brown; the graduating class of women, led by Aide-in-Charge Virginia P. Venner, '28, and Marshals Marjorie L. Hargreaves, Catherine E. Sullivan, H. Zelda Fisher and Jane E. Herr; the graduating class of men, led by Head Marshal Leon M. Payne and Marshals Charles W. Butler, Donald M. Emery, James G. France, Frank G. Handy, John F. Heckman, Jr., Arthur C. Hellman, Raymond F. Noonan, Henry R. Palmer, Jr., Robert E. Pickup, James K. Smith and Theodore Tannenwald, Jr.

The third division, under the direction of Aide-in-Charge Sidney D. Humphrey, '97, included alumni of classes '60-'89, led by Marshals Prof. Albert K. Potter, '86, and William A. Dyer, '86; classes '90-'95, led by Henry J. Hoyer, '95, and Edwin A. Barrows, '91; classes '96-'00, led by Charles R. Easton, '96, and Frederick A. Jones, '96; classes '01-'04, led by Elmer S. Chace, '01, and Frank A. Page, '01; classes '05-'09, led by John G. Walsh, '06, and Elliot G. Parkhurst, '06; classes '10-'15, led by Brenton G. Smith, '11, and Wright D. Heydon, '11; classes '16-'19, led by Harry H. Burton, '16, and Guy W. Wells, '16; classes '20-'25, led by Myles Standish, '21, and Wayne M. Faunce, '21.

The fourth division, under the direction of aide-in-charge J. Cunliffe Bullock, '02, included classes '26-'30, led by Ralph R. Crosby, '26, and Noel M. Field, '26; classes '31 and '32, led by Ronald C. Green, Jr., '31 and Lee McC. Marshall, '31; class of '33, led by Frank A. Gammino, '33 and William J. Gilbane, '33 and classes '34 and '35, led by Ralph L. Foster, Jr., '34, and Matthew E. Ward, '35.

Aides to the chief marshal were Archibald C. Matteson, '93, J. D. E. Jones, '93, Byron S. Watson, '97, John A. Gammons, '98, J. Palmer Barstow, '02, Fred A. Otis, '03, Chauncey E. Wheeler, '09, Frederick A. Ballou, Jr., '16, Edgar J. Lanpher, '19, Denison W. Greene, '24, and Kent F. Matteson, '28.

* * * * *

Mowry & Goff "Old Boys"

MOWRY & GOFF's English & Classical School was for many years a great school to prepare boys for college, and so it is natural to read the names of many Brown men who took part in the 1936 get-together of the Mowry & Goff

"old boys" at the University Club, Providence. The school was founded by William A. Mowry 72 years ago, and was absorbed by the present Moses Brown School. Mowry himself was Brown '58.

The recent reunion was really in observance of the Rhode Island Tercentenary, and Fred A. Otis '03 and his committee worked a little harder than usual to bring out an even larger number than at the time of a regular five-year reunion. Dean of the "old boys" present was Arthur H. Armington '71, who said that the boys of his day had "to learn the Constitution by heart, and a mighty good thing that would be for folks today, especially some of those down in Washington."

Archibald C. Matteson '93 was toastmaster, and speakers and guests of honor included Clarence H. Manchester '86, Judge Everett L. Walling '96, Professor Emeritus Edmund B. Delabarre '86, Frederick W. Arnold '98, who read a poem for the occasion, Frederic E. Whitaker '88. On the reunion committee besides Fred Otis were Dr. Henry A. Whitmarsh '76, Edward P. Jastram '95, Clarence S. Brigham '99, E. Tudor Gross '01, Fred B. Thurber '05, Howard L. Rice '06, Albert H. Poland '09. The list of "old boys" printed in the Providence Journal read like a Brown roster.

* * * * *

Commencement Brevities

FROM the photographic archives of the University, the Brown publicity office offered a choice collection of pictures to the press at Commencement time. One of them showed how the collegian furnished his room in the gay nineties, as evidenced by one in University Hall at the time. The fin de siècle touch was laid on with gusto: beribboned wastebasket, tennis racket, roll-top desk, oars in the corner, hassock, tasseled mantel covering, and signs that told you to go to "Cheap John's" and to remember the room was no cuspidor.

Another photo showed the charwomen of the same era, while the chemists of 1886 were portrayed on the steps of Rogers Hall draped formally with all the crockery and retorts they could muster.

Sixty-five years after his own graduation in 1871, Arthur H. Armington of East Providence saw the second of his grandsons receive their Brown degree this June. Member of the class of 1936 was Richard W. Armington, of 1928 was Francis B. Armington, while Frank M. Adams, Jr., another grandchild, was a Freshman last year. In the second generation of Armingtons is Dr. Herbert H. Armington '00, war-time Medical Corps captain and prominent Providence physician.

Umbrella in hand, Martin S. Smith '67, oldest living graduate of Brown, followed his usual custom in reporting for the Commencement procession. Press photographers showed him talking to Capt. E. H. Brownell, U. S. N., retired, a member of the class of '88, born the year Mr. Smith was graduated.

Although illness forced his retirement from college near the end of his Senior year, Brown awarded its degree to Harrie Hart, varsity hockey captain and letter-man in tennis and baseball. It was an unusual procedure but a tribute to a good student whose Senior luck had been bad.

There was no public mention of the next President of Brown at the Commencement, although the subject may have come before the meeting of the University Corporation. The University's age provision requires that Dr. Barbour shall retire in June, 1937.

Listening with particular interest to Cordell Hull and Professor Blakeslee on Commencement Day was Dr. Cecil M. P. Cross '15, United States consul-general in Paris. He expressed little concern over the widespread strikes in France.

From the other end of the earth came Rev. Stephen D. Pyle '10, pastor of the American Church in Peiping, China.

Is there anyone among the alumni who can equal or better the record of Frank W. Carpenter '89, who has attended 48 consecutive Commencements at Brown, including this year's?

Brunonians Want Brown Plates

THREE SEALS AS A TOKEN: Appearing as a backstamp on the reverse of the new Brown plates, these University seals are the mark of the especially prized first edition.

BRUNONIANS want Brown plates. So much was evident from the way in which orders were coming in to the Alumni Office in mid-July, reserving some of the first edition of the Wedgwood Commemorative issue which is virtually assured by the early response.

Alumni saw the final designs at Commencement time when posters and folders gave them details of the plan. A wide circularization followed in another week's time, and all that remains now is to spur the prospective buyer into realizing that the closing date for the first edition is July 31st.

The project has been under consideration for several years, and the designs finally given approval were the result of long experiment and research. The plates are dinner service in size, measuring 10½ inches, and include a series of six scenes of particular sentimental and pictorial importance to Brunonians. They are the following:

1. Manning Hall as viewed through the 1872 Gate near Carrie Tower.
2. Hope College and the Robinson Gate as viewed from Waterman Street.
3. The familiar prospect at the top of College Hill showing University Hall and the Van Wickle Gates.
4. The War Memorial, as one looks toward Thayer Street from within the campus.
5. The Middle Campus vista as seen through the John Nicholas Brown Gate.
6. The First Baptist Meeting House.

These centres, which will be printed in a rich ceramic brown on an ivory foundation tone, are from the designs of Louise Little of Boston, based in part on the set of drawings by Helen M. Grose which the University owns. Mrs. Grose is the wife of Professor H. B. Grose, Jr., while Mrs. Little is chief designer for Jones, McDuffee & Stratton of Boston, Wedgwood representatives.

NO ONE will ever know who designed the bas relief border of the Brown plates, however, and an interesting story is attached to this part of the plate. It will be an embossed border, without color or printing, relying for its effectiveness on the raised ivory pattern borrowed outright from the work of an unknown designer of 150 years ago.

During the Revolutionary War the college suspended its active existence. Most of the student body and faculty were away on patriotic duties in the war, and the college edifice, Rockefeller Hall, was being variously used for barracks and hospital by the French soldiers. The first Commencement after the struggle for American Independence came in 1786.

Samuel Jones of Pennsylvania, a friend and confidant of President Manning, had been one of the principal advocates and benefactors of the young college, and it was partly to reward those services and partly to recognize his position as a leading Baptist thinker in America that Brown awarded him an honorary degree. Later, indeed, he was offered the Presidency of Brown, although he felt he could not accept.

When he received his honorary degree, Dr. Jones was given a diploma in token thereof, and it was on that diploma that the perfect border for the Brown plate was found. Alumni on the campus at Commencement time noted the seal in the special exhibition in Faunce House and were interested to compare it with the attractive plate design displayed nearby. It lends a handsome antique touch that is entirely appropriate to the plate of a University as old as Brown. The University arms appear dominant within this scroll.

While the border remains the same on all plates, the centres include six different views featuring the campus gates and their environs, which will be hand engraved on copper for the sepia printing. Each set of a dozen plates will include two of each centre.

THE Brown plates are to be in Wedgwood Queensware, first made by Josiah Wedgwood, F.R.S., for Queen Charlotte in 1762 and so named in her honor. The traditions of the master potter, whose famous product was contemporary with the founding of Brown University, are still carried on in the family, and the Brown plates will be made from the original formula of Queensware and executed under the personal supervision of Josiah Wedgwood, sixth lineal descendant of the founder.

John Sadler achieved fame as the inventor of the process of transfer-printing. The suggestion came from some children who had pasted, upon broken bits of crockery, pictures cut from wastepaper prints he had thrown away. Much of the famous Queensware was stamped by him. Since Sadler's time Wedgwood has refined the process so that today it is possible to reproduce on plates the most delicate engravings without sacrifice of their beauty.

Founded in 1810, Jones McDuffee & Stratton have continued throughout the years to import the Liverpool ware—or, as it came to be known later, Staffordshire pottery. It is certain that just as the early Liverpool ware now brings high prices in the auction rooms, these commemorative plates will also increase in value as time goes on. The first edition plates especially, carrying private identification marks, will eventually take their place with those things of beauty which may be classed as rare.

Collectors will be eager, therefore, to procure first edition sets, the distinguishing mark of which will be a cartouche binding together the three seals which have served Brown. One is the Georgian seal, which bears the heads of King George III and his regal consort; the Temple of Learning seal, which patriotic spirits substituted immediately after the Revolution; and the present seal of the open book.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

The first edition will be limited to subscriptions received up to and including July 31st, 1936. Later editions will not have the distinctive backstamp described.

WHILE the project is definitely not a mere money-raising proposition, any profits therefrom will be devoted to some phase of the alumni program as related to the needs of the University. Instead of charging $18 or more a dozen as some universities have done with similar issues, the price for the Brown set is held at $15 a dozen, for the Associated Alumni would like to see the issue widely distributed in Brown homes where their sentimental value as well as their beauty will be appreciated. The ladies of the house particularly will recognize that the price is extremely moderate for such good plates.

In ordering the plates, one should address the office of the Associated Alumni in Faunce House, Brown University. Each order must be accompanied by a check or money-order for five dollars as a deposit on each dozen. Checks should be made out to Charles J. Hill, Treasurer.

Because of the subscription method of sale and the slow process of hand engraving, the Brown plates will not be ready for delivery until the new year. Delivery will be handled from Boston, with express charges extra from that point.

Instead of limiting the first edition to a definite number, say 300 dozen, a time limit was set, so that alumni at a distance from the campus might have an equal opportunity to obtain this prized edition.

The early response was said by the committee to be most heartening.

SOURCE AND PRODUCT: The above ornament on Samuel Jones's Brown diploma 150 years ago served as the inspiration of the embossed border of the handsome new Brown plates sponsored by the Associated Alumni. One of the latter is seen below at the left.

Phi Beta Kappa Elections

HENRY D. SHARPE, Chancellor of Brown University, was elected president of the Rhode Island Alpha of Phi Beta Kappa at the annual meeting of the chapter on June 14. He succeeds Prof. Henry B. Gardner. President Barbour was named vice-president of the Rhode Island Alpha. Other officers, all re-elected, were as follows:

Secretary — Prof. William T. Hastings. Treasurer — Judge William W. Moss. Historian — Frederick T. Guild. Auditor — George L. Miner. Committee on alumni and honorary membership — Marshall N. Fulton, Prof. Lawrence C. Wroth and Frederick R. Hazard. Committee on arrangements — The president, ex-officio, Charles J. Hill and C. Gurney Edwards. Committee on new chapters — Prof. William T. Hastings, Prof. Robert F. Chambers and William H. Eddy. Committee on nomination of officers — William H. Edwards, Prof. George E. Bigge, and L. Metcalfe Walling.

Prof. Clarence R. Adams reported for the committee on revision of by-laws, while the nominating committee report was given by Clarence H. Philbrick. Fifty undergraduates, 34 of them men, were elected to membership in the society last year, it was announced.

* * * * *

Honorary Degrees Theirs

PRESIDENT HARVEY N. DAVIS '01 of Stevens Institute of Technology received the honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering from New York University last month. "To the leadership of your institution," Chancellor Chase told him, "you have brought imagination, courage, and intelligence of a high order."

Professor Z. Chafee, Jr., '07, of the Harvard Law School made the Commencement address at St. John's University School of Law, Brooklyn, N. Y., last month, after having received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the University.

A Rollcall of Reunion Classes

To many an alumnus returning from afar, Commencement and reunion are synonymous, and 1936 was no exception in providing such reunions for all of the five-year classes and the majority of the others. One outstanding exception to general custom was provided by the weather, which kept Rhode Island barometers at low readings for a solid week-end. Enthusiasms were high, however, and no reunion chairman existed unresourceful enough to provide ample pleasures indoors to make up for those rained on outside.

From 1879 to 1933 reunions were reported, with particular honors going to 1886 on its 50th anniversary, 1911 on its 25th, and 1916 on its 10th. Alumni from abroad and remoter parts of this country were given particular welcome, and they were many.

According to the roster at the Alumni Office, the following classes met this year for a week-end, a dinner, or at least a Commencement breakfast before the march down the hill: 1879, 1880, 1881, 1885, 1886, 1887, 1891, 1893, 1896, 1899, 1900, 1901, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1921, 1924, 1926, 1931, and 1933.

Regrettably brief mention of those reunions follows:

1879—The class was not only the oldest but had the best attendance record of any of the reunion groups this year. Eleven of the 15 surviving members gathered at the Anawan Club, Rehoboth, for luncheon, dinner, a literary hour and discussion on Saturday. Again this year Alfred U. Eddy, who was host, recited his annual class poem. Present were: Edward S. Adams, James H. Earle, R. Clinton Fuller, J. J. Greene, Dr. A. H. Harrington, Henry W. Keigwin, Judge Edward S. Marsh, Dr. Walter L. Munro, Henry O. Tripp, Dr. Stephen A. Welch, and Mr. Eddy, Judge Willard B. Tanner was prevented by illness from attending.

1880—Zechariah Chafee and Frank L. Tinkham were hosts to the class in Providence and Taunton over the week-end, with 12 of the 22 members attending. Judge James Austin of Toledo was among the group, which also included: Henry J. Boyce, Rev. John L. Crane, Dr. William Hale, Fred M. Hammett, Benjamin F. Thurston, Edward A. Smiley, James G. Lincoln, Charles R. Adams, Walter F. Angell, Prof. Harry Lyman Koopman.

1881—Fifty-five years out of Brown, five members of the class met in Narragansett where Thomas G. Hazard, Jr., was their luncheon host on Saturday. Canon William Sheafe Chase, Frank H. Gifford, Paul C. Gifford, and Col. Henry B. Rose were the others, and you may be sure that conversation included reference to their distinguished classmate, Charles Evans Hughes.

1885—The class's reunion started in Boston in non-Brunonian surroundings when Dr. C. H. Hare was host to a dozen others at the Harvard Club on Saturday. Present were: Dr. Harlan P. Abbott, Ward Beecher Chase, Charles E. Bassett, Dr. George S. Mathews, Edward H. Grout, James M. Pendleton, Joseph W. Freeman, Francis W. Green, Elmer E. Silver, Andrew McC. Warren, Edward F. Lovejoy, and Frank Hail Brown. Messages were also received from the following absent classmates: Judge Norman S. Dike, Frank Mauran, A. P. Folwell, Professor Walter G. Everett, William C. Burwell, Orray Taft, Joseph H. Lord, Norman L. Richmond, Fred A. Very, and Prescott H. Coleman.

1886—Featured reunion was that of the 50-year class, which began Saturday evening with an informal dinner at the Warwick Country Club as guest of Stephen C. Harris. Professor Alfred K. Potter was host at luncheon in Providence the next day after which the members journeyed to Wickford for dinner as guests of Norman M. Isham. The 35th class breakfast on Commencement morning was tendered them by Professor George Grafton Wilson at the University Club, after which '86 was prominent in the Commencement procession. Attending their 50th were the following, many of them coming from a considerable distance to renew their friendships:

Dr. William H. Bennett, Fitchburg, Mass.; Alexander Brough, New York city; Dana R. Bullen, Worcester, Mass.; Clarence E.

Bury, Fall River, Mass.; Thomas S. Cole, Philadelphia, Pa.; Leonard L. Dick, Sharon, Mass.; William Allan Dyer, Syracuse, N. Y.; Norman Gunderson, Brookline, Mass.; Stephen C. Harris, Providence; Norman M. Isham, Wickford; Frank L. Morse, Chicago, Ill.; Albert Knight Potter, Providence; Thomas G. Rees, Jamaica Plain, Mass.; Rev. William J. Reynolds, Auburn; Edmund Gorham Thurber, Mill Cove, Lunenburg County, Nova Scotia; Stephen Waterman, Washington, D. C.; and Professor George G. Wilson, Cambridge, Mass.

Dr. Bennett was elected president of the class, succeeding the late Solon C. Kelly. Professor Crowell was re-elected secretary.

1891—Rev. Charles A. Meader of East Greenwich was elected president of the class to succeed Dr. James L. Wheaton of Pawtucket during the 45th reunion. Other officers, all of Providence, are George J. Holden, vice president; Edward A. Barrows, treasurer; and Frank L. Hinckley, secretary. After luncheon on Saturday at the home of Samuel A. Everett in Providence, the reunion scene shifted to the Warwick Country Club where Dr. Wheaton presided over a dinner attended by 27 members. An original ode was ready by William Howard Paine, who also saluted the 50-year class, also at Warwick, on behalf of 1891. Motion pictures and other photographs of earlier reunions afforded much pleasure. Sunday was also spent at Warwick Country Club, while on Commencement Day Mr. Hinckley and Martin S. Fanning were among the hosts in town.

Among other '91 men back were: Dr. Augustus W. Calder, Arthur H. Colby, Frank D. Lisle, William H. Barron, Dr. Arthur L. Beals, Chester A. Cook of Chicago, Edwin G. Dexter of Washington, D. C., Herbert L. Dunn, Merrick L. Goff, Rev. Wallace W. Gushee of Youngstown, N. Y., Albert B. Johnson, Rev. Charles E. Knowles, Flushing, N. Y., Charles M. Perry, Dr. Alfred S. Taylor, Frank E. Winsor, and Fred W. Woodcock.

1893—President Edward B. Aldrich was host to the class at its reunion dinner Sunday night at the Squantum Club, with a number of other Brunonians as guests, including: Dr. George A. Matteson '96 of San Antonio, Tex.; Fred Murphy '99, star end of the 1898 football team; Fred Tenney '94, baseball luminary; F. E. Smith '96, Daniel F. George '94, and Comptroller Edwin A. Burlingame. The list of diners included: Archibald C. Matteson, class secretary for 43 years, John L. Casey, Thomas P. Corcoran, George W. Perkins, Arthur W. Rowell and his son Leonard, Henry W. B. Arnold, Professor Robert M. Brown, William J. Brown, Arnold B. Chace, J. D. E. Jones, Dr. William H. Magill, Walter E. Smith and his son Ronald Smith '23, Edward H. Weeks, Professor Alfred H. Wightman, Walter S. Reynolds, Dr. Frank J. Sexton. At the Commencement breakfast at the Hope Club, A. B. Johnson '91, Orin P. Durkee and Rev. Edward Dolan were other attendants.

1896—The 40th anniversary of graduation was marked by 37 members of the class who lunched and dined at the Rhode Island Country Club Saturday, while others returned to the campus later in the week-end. The number represented about half of the 75 living members. The occasion was further notable for the fact that Albert S. Morse of Summit, N. J., and John H. H. Alden of New Haven were back for their first reunion since graduation. Dinner was informal, although Class President John S. Murdock called on several members to speak. In Sayles Hall Monday the class had a cheer to greet Dr. Edwin A. Locke '96, director of health and athletics at Williams College, who presided over the Sayles Hall meeting.

Reunion plans were made by a committee headed by the class treasurer, Allison Stone; the Secretary William A. McAuslan; Judge Murdock, and Frederick A. Jones. Others present were: William P. Otis, Dr. Charles F. Deacon, Charles R. Easton, Judge G. Frederick Frost, Ronald C. Green, Professor William H. Kenerson, Dr. George A. Matteson, Judge Elmer J. Rathbun, Everett L. Walling, John W. Smith, James H. Rickard, Albert R. Nichols, Carroll H. Ash, James E. Ames, Elmer S. Bailey, Rev. G. Dewitt Dowling, William A. Jones, Robert C. Vose, George L. Parker, Irving H. Gamwell, Dr. Herbert B. Lang, Wesley E. Monk, William W. Rugg, Horace P. Dorman of Philadelphia, Allan B. Bicknell of Bridgewater, Va., Dr. Arthur Deerin Call of Washington, D. C., Charles S. Stedman of Albany, Mason M. Swan of Watertown, N. Y., and Frank E. Smith, Dr. Clarence M. Gallup, and Alfred B. Meacham, all of New York City.

1899—Richard Roy Perkins, general secretary of the San Francisco Y. M. C. A., who returned to the campus this year for the first time since 1902, was guest of honor at the class reunion Monday night, attended by a score. Edward A. Stockwell, president of '99, conducted the affair, with the following also present: John F. Bannon, Russell W. Baker, Henry W. Hopkins, Joseph J. McCaffrey, Dr. Samuel M. Beale, Raymer B. Weeden, Benjamin W. Grim, Alonzo R. Williams '00, Howard R. Smart, George W. Sutchffe, Charles C. Remington, Judge Ralph C. Estes, Charles I. Gates, Charles O. Cooke, Judge Charles A. Walsh, James G. Harris, Dr. Nathaniel H. Gifford, John M. Glen, and William E. Winchester '98.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

1900—Breakfast on Commencement morning was the reunion attraction for '00, with the following at table in the University Club: Dr. R. C. Robinson, vice president of the class, Melvin C. Johnson, Charles G. Richardson, Benjamin O. Pillsbury, Arthur L. Perry, Dr. H. H. Armington, Professor Charles W. Brown, Dr. Waldo G. Leland, Charles P. Roundy, Judge Fred T. Field, Harris H. Bucklin, John Laurence Hood, Clinton C. White, Professor Leshe E. Swain '08, and Richard Armington '36.

1901—More than two-score of '01 had a share in the pleasures of the 35th reunion, among them the committee which had made the arrangements: William H. Hull, secretary, E. Tudor Gross, and Henry C. Hart. Others who registered at the Wigwam Hotel, Misquamicut, were: W. C. H. Brand, Elmer S. Chace, Ernest W. Crawley, W. Louis Frost, W. Kingsley Low, Dr. Albert L. Midgley, Frank A. Page, Dr. Charles S. Turner, Dr. William C. McLaughlin, Frank H. Gooding, Dr. Harry A. Chase, Herbert C. Low, Stewart B. McLeod, C. Chester Eaton, Horace T. Day, Charles H. Gilmore, George B. Hayward, Amos L. Taylor and Halley T. Waller of Akron, O., E. S. P. Bodurtha, Ernest P. Carr, Howard A. Coffin of Detroit, Albert L. Copeland, L. Leland Eaton of Verona, N. Y., Edwin Farnham Greene, Charles B. Fernald, Frank H. Westlake and George M. Purver, all of New York City, Ernest G. Hapgood, Donald LeStage, Harold L. Madison of Cleveland, Jesse G. Melendy of Tarrytown, N. Y., Roy Smith of Kent, O., Alan R. Wheeler, Judge Winfred H. Whiting, Dr. Frederic D. Williams of White Plains, N. Y., Harrison E. Wright of Barnardville, N. J., Thomas E. Dunn, William R. Harvey, Dr. Arthur I. Andrews, Hunter C. White, Libe Washburn of Malone, N. Y., Col. G. A. Taylor, President Harvey N. Davis of Stephens Institute of Technology, Charles S. Read, and Dr. William J. Hindle.

1902 From Friday through Sunday members of 1902 held their reunion at the Newport estate of Philip Caswell, and more than 25 returned, despite the fact that it was an "off-year." The class dinner on Saturday night was the feature event to the following: William Penn Bates, Robert O. Smith, Edward K. Aldrich, Jr., J. Cunliffe Bullock, Frederick W. Greene, Jr., Dr. James W. Leech, Harry M. Paine, Russell W. Richmond, Arthur W. Pinkham, Frederick W. Tillinghast, A. Truman Patterson, Senator Alfred G. Chaffee, Dr. Harold G. Calder, Robert L. Bowen, George Burdick, Dr. Charles H. Holt, Everett J. Horton, James B. Littlefield, Charles R. Haslam, Warren Wilmarth, Col. G. Edward Buxton, Arthur E. Munro, J. Palmer Barstow, and Albert L. Saunders.

1903 The class is already laying plans for its 35th reunion two years hence, and such anticipations were part of the business of the reunion at Agawam Hunt Club attended by a baker's dozen: Professor H. B. Grose, Charles S. Carpenter, Richard W. Blanding, Fred A. Otis, secretary, President John Hutchins Cady, Arthur L. Philbrick, Professor William T. Hastings, Walter Enos Philips, Percy H. Blanding, Charles E. G. Dickerson, Robert Aldrich, Daniel Hurley, and Dr. William O. Rice.

1904—Thirteen members lengthened the string of gatherings by assembling for the 32nd annual reunion dinner of the class, held at the Agawam Hunt Club. In attendance were: Dr. Bertram H. Buxton, Foster B. Davis, Edward K. Arnold, Bernard P. Raymond, Ralph E. Mason, John F. Heckman, Elisha C. Mowry, Everard Appleton, Frederick W. O'Connell, Charles D. Casey, Howard F. Esten, Frederick C. Jones, and Dr. Edward J. Black.

1905—The Rhode Island Country Club was the scene of the '05 reunion, which was marked by the return of Ray Hovey of San Pedro, Cal., for his first reunion since graduation. He was accompanied by his brother, H. M. Hovey '00, and his nephew, Kenneth Hovey '27 of New York City. Arrangements for the assembly had been handled by the following committee: Newton P. Hutchison, chairman; Paul C. DeWolf, class president; W. Howard Barney, William A. Spicer, Judge John C. Mahoney, and C. L. Robinson, class secretary.

Others at the banquet were: W. Granville Meader, David Davidson, Arthur J. Latham, Chester C. Greene, Dr. Niles Westcott, John H. McGough, Charles Z. Alexander, Dr. Theodore C.

Hascall, Senator Russell H. Handy, George B. Bullock, Judge Allyn L. Brown, Frank S. Cooke of New York, and Dr. Earle B. Cross of Rochester.

1906—Motion pictures of the past and present at Brown University were an attraction at the 30th reunion of '06, held at the Cold Spring House, Wickford. Saturday night saw the class banquet with Alexander Graham as toastmaster and the following speakers: Dr. Alex M. Burgess, Professor Ben W. Brown '19, Dr. Edgar S. Brightman, chairman of the graduate school board at Boston University, and Samuel C. Lamport, textile manufacturer. In charge of the reunion were Eliot G. Parkhurst, Howard L. Rice, Robert L. Knight, Albert W. Claffin, Elmer D. Nickerson, and Mr. Graham. Mr. Knight was host to the class on Friday when he served a Rhode Island clambake at his farm in Phenix.

Others attending the reunion were T. Elliott Tolson, New York hotel man, Ray Brown, C. A. Pray, Judge Walter A. Briggs, Rev. C. Raymond Chappell, Arthur F. Driscoll, Charles A. Lundell, Henry G. Carpenter, Richard D. Tucker, Rev. W. Douglas Swaffield.

1907 The class's reunion was held at Agawam Hunt on Saturday, with three of the members back to see their sons graduated. They were: W. E. Bright of Scranton, Pa., Leon F. Payne of Dallas, Texas, and W. C. Slade of Providence. Plans were set in motion for next year's 30th anniversary by President George Hurley, Secretary Claude R. Branch, Alumni Secretary Alfred H. Gurney, and others who attended the dinner: Dr. Joseph I. Grover, A. Chester Snow, J. C. Knowles, F. W. Lane, H. E. Miller, Dr. F. A. Cummings, M. H. S. Affleck, Myron S. Curtis, Victor A. Schwartz, Robert B. Jones, and W. P. Burnham. The 1937 reunion will be held at the Carlton Hotel, Narragansett.

1908—Prof. James A. Hall and Howard S. Young prepared the reunion program for the class, and a banquet was held at the Rhode Island Country Club. In the reunion group were: Norman L. Sammis, secretary-treasurer of '08, former Governor Norman S. Case, Professor Leshe E. Swain, Herbert K. Sturdy, Jr., James L. Murray, S. Eugene Jackson, Rev. Albert C. Thomas, Hunter S. Marston of New York, Paul L. Chipman, F. I. Chicester of Chicago, and William C. Bitting of St. Louis.

1909—A Rhode Island clambake was an attraction for the class at its 27th anniversary meeting on Saturday at Allen's Harbor, North Kingstown, where George T. Huxford was host. The classmates who enjoyed this traditional Narragansett Bay fare or some other Commencement function were: Harold B. Tanner, John H. Wells, Sydney Wilmot, Charles H. Ward, George F. Sykes, Irving W. Patterson, Lawrence Richmond, William C. Ross, William P. Dodge, Edmund E. Moffett, W. Robert Nash, James V. Turner, Edward J. Hollen, Selwyn G. Tinkham, Albert H. Poland, Dr. William P. Buffum, George H. Henderson, Chauncey E. Wheeler, Herbert M. Sherwood, Stuart R. Bughee, Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., Malcolm D. Champlin, Moses L. Crossley, Everett A. Greene, Raymond Buss, Albert E. Leach, Dr. Robert H. Whitmarsh, Donald Jackson, Charles W. Briggs, and Henry S. Chafee.

1910—William R. Oakes, '36 and James G. Krause '36 were made honorary members of their fathers' class, 1910, on the eve of their graduation Saturday. Seventeen members of 1910 were gathered at the Rhode Island Country Club on the occasion. Warren C. Johnson, president of the class, presided over the class dinner, at which Elmer S. Horton, class secretary, read letters

Magister McLaughry

THE self-conceived degree of MAGISTER FOOTBALL-SUS" was conferred by the class of 1931 upon Coach D. O. McLaughry when the class, at its fifth reunion, dubbed him an honorary member of its company. A flowery and elaborate document to that effect was presented by Ernest G. Hapgood, Jr., former varsity football man, at the June 14 luncheon.

With many a whereas, it recalled that "Tuss" (the resolution referred to him as De Ormendum McLaughryensis) was observing the 10th anniversary of his "doctoring in Brunonian football propensities." That was back in 1926 "when, fresh from Amherst and the toils of conquering all the Indians that came within his sight," McLaughry "whooped into Providence Plantations hunting for bear . . . with remedial effects that were astounding."

1891's Service

A UNIQUE reunion feature was added to 1891's observance of its 45th anniversary when members took an active part in church services at St. Luke's, East Greenwich, Sunday morning, June 14. The newly elected president of '91, Rev. Charles A. Meader, was in the pulpit as rector of the church. Organist Joseph Ashton of Andover, Mass., played two organ voluntaries and was the composer of a hymn, "There's a Wideness in God's Mercy", sung publicly then for the first time. Rev. Charles Knowles and Rev. Wallace Gushee participated in the Scripture readings. Prof. Edward B. Birge, of the music faculty at the University of Indiana, led the class in the singing of another hymn, for which Abram Mendenhall, of Milwaukee, Wis., had written several stanzas for the occasion.

Mr. Meader's address had as its subject, "The Manhood Encouraged and Built by Brown University in its Early Days as Exemplified in the Character and Influence of Brig. Gen. James Mitchell Varnum of East Greenwich, a Member of the First Graduating Class in 1769." Appropriately, the Kentish Guards of East Greenwich, a chartered command whose first officer was Varnum, attended the service, together with the Varnum Continentals, another local chartered command named for him. A special program for the service printed two letters, one by James Manning, Brown's first president, written to the Massachusetts Magazine in 1789 and enclosing the second, written by Varnum to his wife in 1788 from Marietta O., where he had gone as one of its founders and as judge of the Supreme Court of the Northwest Territory. Mr. Meader's sermon brought out the friendship between the two and the great influence they each exercised not only on education but upon the political destiny of the country in the days when the Constitution was being fashioned. The ALUMNI MONTHLY hopes to be able to print his address at another time.

Twenty-four members of the class attended this inspiring service.

from members who could not return for the reunion, among them Carl W. Atwood, class treasurer. Present were: Attorney General John P. Hartigan, Albert N. Peterson, Edward S. Spicer, H. T. Phinney, William S. Sweet, Joseph H. Cull, Dr. Lester A. Round, William J. Dwyer, William B. Freeman, Richard D. Allen, Claude M. Wood, Clarence Richards, Jr., and Clifton B. Ward.

1911—Silver jubilee of 1911 was observed gaily at the Breakers Hotel, Narragansett, with more than two-score members returning to renew their old ties with Brown and their classmates. From a distance came: H. M. Burke, Wappinger Falls, N. Y.; E. S. Fitz, Richmond, Va.; George Denny Moore, White Plains, N. Y.; A. W. Sweet, Freehold, N. J.; J. Russell McKay, Youngstown, O.; Wendell R. Swint, Wilmington, Del.; Edwin C. Bosworth, Washington, D. C.; David J. Purdie, Verona, N. J.; C. M. Franklin, Summit, N. J.; W. G. Harrington, Port Chester, N. U.; E. B. Allen, White Plains, N. Y.; Lawrence Gardner, Rochester, N. Y.; Robert Cushman Murphy and John Ervin, Bronxville, N. Y.; Dr. Arthur Palmer, New York City; G. H. Gifford, New Rochelle, N. Y.; L. A. Newfield, Brooklyn, N. Y.; H. R. Coffin, Auburn, Me.;

Other registrants included: E. B. Dane, Charles P. Sisson, Ellis L. Yatman, Leroy G. Pilling, T. H. Roalf, A. E. Corp, G. Fred Swanson, Brenton G. Smith, A. L. Breckenridge, William C. Giles, Arthur E. Staff, Warren A. Sherman, F. R. Gleason, E. F. Bliss, Philip C. Curtis, Harry A. Ormes, James A. Wilson, Rev. H. B. Francis, and John V. Keily.

1912—Looking ahead to 1937, the class devoted part of its reunion to preparations for its 25th next June. A group dined together Saturday night at the University Club, Providence, with that in view. Among the men were: Kip I. Chace, Karl Humphrey, Henry G. Marsh, Arthur F. Newell, Samson Nathanson, Carlton H. Parker, and Earl P. Perkins.

1913—A reunion dinner at the Rhode Island Country Club Friday was attended by 22 members of '13, among them Alfred B. Lemon, class treasurer, who presided, and Clarence H. Philbrick, secretary. President Ira Lloyd Letts had not yet returned from the Cleveland convention of the Republican party. At the dinner were: J. Taylor Wilson, Clarence H. Woodward, Benjamin I. Robinson, Payson Tucker, Thomas H. Roberts, George T. Metcalf, Duncan Langdon, Francis P. Davis, William J. Reed, Dr. Samuel

I. Kennison, Herbert S. Osteyee, Dean Samuel T. Arnold, Professor Leighton T. Bohl, Professor Walter H. Snell, Frederick C. Williams, Preston F. Arnold, Russell W. Field, John T. Walker, Carleton D. Morse, and Edward A. C. Murphy.

1914—The Jacob's Hill Hunt Club was the scene of '14's reunion observances, and a business session during Saturday evening was notable for a vote to present $1200 to the University in the name of the class to be dedicated to those who have died in the service of their country." Preliminary plans were noted for the 25th reunion in 1939, and a reunion will be held down the Bay next year. President Robert S. Holding was in charge, with Charles L. Woolley, secretary, lending his aid.

Among the reunion attendants were: Frederick R. Hazard, J. G. Nathanson, Edward T. Brackett, Melvin E. Sawin, Joseph H. Farnham, David C. Adelman, Leon N. McKenzie, Dr. George E. Ronne, Dr. Robert M. Lord, Morgan W. Rogers, Henry L. P. Beckwith, Harold L. Cushing, Maurice A. Wolf, Charles E. Brady, James J. Tyrell, Dr. Edward A. McLaughlin, director of the Rhode Island Department of Health, and Arthur D. Durgin, famous Brown first baseman.

1916—The Carlton Hotel, Narragansett, was headquarters for the 20th reunion from Friday through Sunday with about 40 of the class back. A golf tournament and dinner were high spots of the week-end. Reunion celebrants were: Professor C. E. Ekstrom, Dr. William N. Hughes, Dr. Guy W. Wells, John J. Cashman, Francis J. O'Brien, Frederick A. Ballou, Jr., A. A. Alm, Franklin C. Smith, James J. McGinn, Ralph W. Pratt, H. M. Davis, Gordon B. Ewing, G. Stacy Bearse, Paul B. Metcalf, John B. Dunn, Francis J. Brady, Charles J. Hill, H. H. Burton, William N. Ormsby, William A. Graham, John W. Moore, Henry Dursin, Jr., Leon W. Brower, Dr. Charles A. Levin, Jesse M. Bailey, G. M. White, L. E. Bauer, Edward I. Cristy, G. D. Houtmann, S. G. Byam, Frank R. Abbott, James E. Skane, F. R. Smith, H. D. Scott, W. R. L. McBee, Dr. David Steel, H. S. McLeod, Louis W. Cappelli. Speakers Sunday included Professor C. A. Robinson, Jr., and Alumni Secretary A. H. Gurney.

1917—Ten members dined at the Wannamoisett Country Club to plot the 20th reunion of the class next year. They named Judge Raymond E. Jordan, class president, to make arrangements. Other diners were: Frank C. Cambio, Dr. Ralph L. DiLeone, Judge James W. Leighton, Howard H. Quinham, Russell L. Tomlinson, Major Ralph A. Armstrong, William B. Farnsworth, John F. Brown, and Col. Joseph E. Maguire.

1918—William H. Higgins, who came from Havana for the reunion, found a lively gathering of his classmates at the Wannamoisett Country Club Saturday. In keeping with plans being made for the 20th reunion in 1938, Harold F. C. Wilcox was made permanent reunion chairman, with a committee made up of M. Joseph Cummings, Clifton I. Munroe and Walter Adler. Dwight T. Colley announced that his son would enter Brown next fall, the first son of a member of 1918 to enroll at the University. Present were: Professors Charles A. Stuart, C. Raymond Adams, and J. Walter W. Wilson, Isaac G. Smith, Frederick B. Brooks, Paul J. Grimes, Kenneth B. MacLeod, and John A. McGhee '20 and Charles H. Lawton, Jr., '20.

1921—Two-score men of '21 enjoyed the week-end at Stone Bridge Inn, Sakonnet, set aside for the 15th reunion and voted the most successful yet. Long-distance traveler number one was Ralph D. Standish, who took a vacation from his work as manager of the National City Bank of N. Y. branch in Yokohama, Japan. Al Mochau was reunion chairman, with Frederick G. Brown and Myles Standish as his aides. Class officers present included Harold L. Tinker, president, and H. Stanton Smith, treasurer.

1924—A dinner at the University Club Saturday night brought together a dozen of the class, including: Philip Saunders, Jr., Robert H. Goff, Roy L. McGregor, Dr. Milton Goldberger, Carleton Goff, John J. McDonald, William Fletcher, Jr., Carlton H. Bliss, John F. Cotton, Louis B. Goff, and Joseph W. Nutter.

1926—Ten-year class was '26, which held a congenial week-end reunion at the Hotel Andrea, Misquamicut, where a sports program was carried out in spite of interferences from the weather. Warren Y. Hull of Tacoma, Wash., received first prize for coming the greatest distance, with a close second in Benjamin L. Nyman of San Francisco. Third was George F. Vialut of Clinton, Tenn., the awards being made by Ormond B. Cook. Jacob S. Temkin, secretary, read a report of the last reunion, while Myron Sulzburger, Jr., vice president, presided over the business meeting. Albert L. Parks was general chairman of the reunion planners, receiving the aid of committeemen James M. Berry, Matthew W. Goring, H. Cushman Anthony, Robert F. Day, Ralph B. Crosby, and Mr. Cook.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Others who attended were: D. D. Grubbs of Indianapolis, M. Theodore Jadick, R. P. Goldman, Elon Notley of Syracuse, R. Ralph Fitzpatrick, Henry Santosuosso, E. J. Moriarity, William J. Dee, George E. Taber, George C. Cranston, W. H. Weidman, E. P. W. Readle, Clarence F. Andrews, Richard West of Philadelphia, Godfrey Goff, Franklin B. Gelder of Scranton, Pa., R. K. Connell, C. W. Johnson, John N. See, Edmund I. Leeds, Jr., Kent Godfrey, Charles E. Conklin, James A. Walsh, George A. Paine, Noel M. Field, E. Donald Ross, Dr. Walter S. Jones, F. C. Andrews, George D. Hurley, John F. Wentworth, J. L. Hood, Gordon Dewart, Dr. Leonard B. Thompson, and W. F. Storms. A late arrival was Lt. Horace Mazet, who had just been transferred from Quantic to Aircraft Squadron Two, San Diego, Cal.

1931 The five-year class did two unusual things at its Fifth Reunion at the Hotel Plimpton, Watch Hill: it gave $2,000 to the University and elected D. O. "Tuss" McLaughry an honorary member of the Class. The class gift was divided: $1,000 to form the nucleus of the Class of 1931 Scholarship Fund and the other $1,000 to go toward the Yachting program. At the business meeting it was also voted to inaugurate a system of class dues.

The following officers were elected for the next five years: Joe O'Neil, President; Lee Marshall, Vice-President; Ernie Hapgood, Secretary; and Ralph Richardson, Treasurer.

A fine group returned for the festivities and though the inclement weather prevented any outdoor activities, everyone seemed to have a good time. Among those returning were:

Harry Streep, Al Toombs, Jim Minicus, Bill Murphy, Joe Micucci, Paul Snyder, Ken Fisher, Joe O'Neil, Tom Sheehan, Joe Davis, Ernie Hapgood, Lloyd Briggs, Ed Williams, Bob Fletcher, Foster Sheldon, Abbott Hutchinson, Bob Mawney, Paul Monahan, Paul Thayer, Dave Cameron, Charlie Cummings, Ralph Briggs, Dave Edes, Cecil Roche, Ben Leonard, Ken Ulson, Cap Shimmom, George Coughlan, Duncan Campbell, Lee Marshall, Bill Hood, Bob Young, Art Schweikart, Alden Walls, George Knowles, Larry McGinn, Lou Demmler, Stan Nickerson, Harold Arthur, George Troy, Ed Ahern, Frank Crowther, Finkie Gurl, Jim Lawton, Dan McIver, Gordon Ingerson, Ken Allen, Jim Sisk, Dick Bowen, Ray Hall, Ralph Richardson, Clint Williams, Ron Green, Jim Brown, Jim Hindley, Bill Mackenzie, Jack Redmond, Fred Harson, Joe Sherman.

A sparkling and informative "Who's Who" of the class was only one evidence of the originality and initiative of the reunion committee. Statistics there revealed included: Bachelors 98, fiancés 8, husbands 103; teachers 27, doctors 18, attorneys 16, engineers 11, journalists 9, Federal workers 10, manufacturers 8, chemists 6, clergymen 3, students 3, accountants 5, actor 1, archaeologist 1, general business 44, salesmen 30, merchants 15, Wall Street 10, funeral directors 3, banking 5, advertising 5, radio 2, and men of leisure 2. Members of the class are in 21 states and 7 foreign countries. Complete daily program allowed even a "writing period for fiancés."

1933—Glocester Country offered its resources to the resourceful class of 1933, 29 members of which assembled for their third reunion on Saturday and went through their scheduled program unmindful of the rain. Frank Hurd won the golf with a 70, while Thomas F. Gilbane and Edmund R. Gilmartin won the lawn bowling, according to what they told the newspapers.

Twelve new members were added to the roster of the Brown Club of Providence, while Tom Gilbane made a plea for support of the Alumni Fund. Motion pictures of the day's events were taken and will be shown at the fifth reunion. Gilmartin, Stuart A. Woodward, Tom Gilbane, Joe Hastings, and Frank Gammino arranged the program, under the direction of William J. Gilbane and Robert R. Chase, who were re-elected class marshals. Russell Dolan, Hurd, and Tom Gilbane were dinner speakers, introduced by Gilmartin. Others who went to Glocester were: Herbert H. Pickard, John R. Ewan, G. B. Russell, John B. Murphy, Russell Murphy, Henry R. Anderson, Corwin Y. Matlock, Wallace C. Fielder, Owen F. Walker, recently returned Rhodes Scholar, Joseph S. Thompson, Harold Johnson, Max Hoberman, Frank Meadows, Paul Choquette, Walter J. Walsh, George A. Dickey, Alexander M. Burgess, Jr., Jack S. Crusoe, and Robert B. Dugan.

* * * * *

A Chemist on the Air

Moses L. Crossley '09, president of the American Institute of Chemists, spoke June 17 over WEAJ on "Science and Human Welfare." The talk was given under the auspices of the Student Science Clubs of America.

RETURNS TO THE CAMPUS: Theodore R. Jeffers '23, newly appointed Executive Secretary of the Brown University Council.

A New Council Executive

THEODORE ROOSEVELT JEFFERS '23, a master in English at Blair Academy, Blairstown, N. J., has been appointed Executive Secretary of the Brown University Council, effective with the beginning of the academic year 1936-37.

As Executive Secretary, Mr. Jeffers will carry on the work of the Council, which was organized last year to co-ordinate the activities of alumni and friends of Brown engaged in co-operative efforts related to the welfare of the University. Mr. Jeffers will also act as an executive assistant to the Brown Alumni Fund Trustees.

Mr. Jeffers entered Brown in 1919 from the Peabody, Mass., High School. While he was an undergraduate he was active in Sock and Buskin and was president of the Dramatic Society during his senior year. He was a member of the Sphinx Club, honorary society, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He is a member of Zeta Psi fraternity.

From 1923 to 1928, Mr. Jeffers was a teacher in the Providence Country Day School under Dr. Charles H. Breed. In 1925-26 he was an assistant in Latin at Brown. After Dr. Breed became head master of Blair Academy, Mr. Jeffers went to Blair to become a master in English. While at Blair he has been teaching English, coaching dramatics and acting as advisor for the student publications. From 1926 to 1935 Mr. Jeffers directed Camp Katahdin, a boys' summer camp in Sweden, Me.

His wife is the former Miss Elizabeth Young of the class of 1924 at Pembroke College, former Alumnae Secretary of Pembroke.

Ivory Littlefield '09 has been appointed Chairman of the Council's Providence Committee.

* * * * *

Island Census Taker

Dr. Leon E. Truesdell '07 has recently returned to Washington from San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he was in charge of the 1935 census taken under auspices of the Puerto Rico Reconstruction Administration.

A Tribute to Dr. Mead

A PORTRAIT of Dr. Albert Davis Mead, vice-president of the University since 1926, was unveiled on Commencement Day in Sayles Hall where it will take its place among those of Brown's greatest servants and sons. The presentation of this canvas, reproduced on the cover of this issue, had a particular significance in that only a few weeks before Brown men had learned with deep regret that he was retiring after an active association with the University that has extended over 41 years.

Dr. Mead first came to Brown in the fall of 1895 as instructor in neurology. In 1901, he became head of the department of comparative anatomy and at the time, the youngest full professor on the faculty. His title was changed to professor of biology in 1908.

In making known Dr. Mead's decision to retire, Dr. Barbour said:

"It is with profound regret that I announce Dr. Mead's retirement in June—a regret which will be shared by all members of the corporation and faculty, by alumni in all parts of the country, and by a host of friends in this community.

"Dr. Mead has continued his active service two years beyond the minimum age of retirement and is retiring at this time, after 41 years of continuous service, under medical advice because of a condition of his eyes which requires a period of rest and outdoor life and release from the routine which active service entails."

The span of years covering Dr. Mead's service to Brown has witnessed the development of a University in fact as well as in name, the strengthening of its ties with the community in which it is located, the enlargement of the place which it occupies in the field of education, the increasing of its prestige among teachers and scholars throughout the world; and the enrichment of the educational opportunities which are offered to its students.

Just before the close of the academic year, members of the Corporation, Administration, and Faculty had an opportunity to express their warm feelings for Dr. Mead in a reception tendered him.

ELLEN EMMET RAND, who painted the portrait of Dr. Albert Davis Mead for Brown University's "pantheon" in Sayles Hall, created a sensation early in the century when she put on a "one-man" show of her work, first in New York and then another of more than 90 portraits in Boston. Hers was the first such exhibition in New York, coming after three years as Paris pupil of Frederick MacMonnies, and when the Boston show came along four years later, in 1906, only Whistler, Sargent, and possibly Monet had preceded her as "one-man" exhibitors in the East.

Since then she has had many exhibitions and won numerous honors and medals, including a gold medal from the Panama-Pacific Exposition, a silver medal from the St. Louis Exposition, a bronze medal from the Buenos Aires Exposition, the Beck Gold Medal from the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, and the Gould Prize of the Women Painters and Sculptors. Two of her paintings are in the Metropolitan Museum in New York. Her commissions include many a notable one, among them: the official portrait of President Roosevelt, Bishop Lawrence, Bishop Potter, Bishop Greer, Bishop Stires, Prof. William James, Hon. Henry T. Stimson for the State Department, Hon. Elihu Root also for the State Department, Rev. Endicott Peabody of Groton School, George W. Wickersham, Peter B. Olney, Gov. Trumbull of Connecticut, Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, now Mrs. Paul FitzSimons, Miss Charlotte Noland, Principal of Foxcroft School, Miss Maria B. Chapin, headmistress of the Chapin School and many others.

The portrait was authorized at the June meeting of the Brown Corporation in 1935, funds being raised privately and the project being completed so happily by the following committee: Hunter S. Marston, chairman W. R. Dorman, and Edwin Farnham Greene. They are to be complimented on their excellent choice of artist, for the canvas is conspicuously one of the best in Sayles Hall and will be treasured as a work of art as well as the portrait of a servant of Brown who holds such a warm place in the hearts of her sons.

THE presentation of the Sayles Hall portrait was inevitably made by Dr. Hermon Carey Bumpus, long a friend and co-worker, who could doubtless appreciate the achievements of Dr. Mead in many fields as could no other person. Speaking also to the presiding officer, Dr. Edwin A. Locke, Dr. Bumpus said:

"It is a rare pleasure at this gathering to be one of three companions who youthfully collaborated in the gloomy recesses of old Rhode Island Hall, some forty-five years ago, under the vitalizing influence of what was then the emerging science of Biology.

"You will recall, Dr. Locke and Dr. Mead, that the alcoholic evidences of Professor Packard's pioneer work in American entomology provided a most stimulating aroma. There were the queer contraptions assembled by Professors Blake, Peirce and Bell incident to the invention of the telephone and, on the floor above, the strange collections made by the venerable Professor Jenks. All factors combined to forge an interesting link in the chain connecting the epoch of wonder and acquisition to that of the newer epoch of investigation, interpretation, and understanding.

"The significance of bacterial invasions at that time was in controversy. The X-ray was a plaything and not infrequently we listened to warnings concerning the damaging influence of the Darwinian theory of descent.

"You, Locke, if my memory serves me, were endeavoring to determine why the pelvis of the chicken resembled that of a reptile. If you will pardon me—Mead's interests were of a higher order—they were feline. He was not only a zoophile—he loved animals—but he wanted to open them and see what made them 'act that way.'"

OF the students at Brown who have come under the instruction of Dr. Mead, I make claim to being the first and the last. Mine began in 1891 and ended early this morning when he endeavored to teach me the proper rendering of Latin prose.

"I am only one of hundreds that have enjoyed the pleasurable sensation of contact with this person, endowed with wide interests and lofty ideals, clarity of thought and sound judgment, kindly companionable in conference; sympathetic in the obligations of administration; a silent and efficient worker; a constructive worker and one who knew the exact proportions of oxygen and nitrogen that should be united in order to produce an ideal academic atmosphere. But he is suspicious of and detests flattery. He has a keen sense of humor and he is clever with the foils of repartee. I must proceed with caution and not trespass upon even the frontier of eulogy.

(Continued on page 43)

Brunonia Plays the Game

Season's End

IT WAS the pitch that ended the best athletic spring Brown has had in years, and it was the last ball that Perry Elrod was to swing at as an undergraduate. He slammed it for a home run, winning a 10-inning game with Yale to make it the second victory over the Elis in the series and the 12th in 17 baseball games this season. Three of the losses came after extra-inning games, two of them being among the six engagements with teams in the Eastern Intercollegiate League. Victims of the Brunonians were Lowell, Amherst, Tufts, Rhode Island, Maine, Columbia, Providence College, Yale, Harvard, and Long Island.

After this successful season, the Athletic Council awarded perhaps the smallest number of varsity baseball letters it has ever given, for none beside the 11 regulars (including two catchers and two pitchers) saw much service. Major league scouts watched the work of the Seniors, and at least two of them signed contracts for professional ball: Murray and Butler. Graduated were: O'Reilly, hustling fielder and ideal lead-off man who hit safely 23 times and drew 15 passes for a .383 average; Charley Butler, tall first-baseman whose 22 hits included many an extra-base clout; Ambrose Murray, whose pitching reached its peak this year; Captain Frankie Brown, an excellent leader; and Perry Elrod, sure fielder whose grand finale was noted above. The team batted for .267, led by Sophomore Paul Welch, who hit for .439. Clements found himself at third after a shaky year at short in 1935, with Brokaw filling the latter position well. Two catchers, Brush and Hineckley, one first-string pitcher, Dye, and several competent recruits also will be available for next year.

WHILE the nine scored 105 runs against its opponents' 49, it was strong fielding and sound pitching which brought the team through the latter stages of its schedule. Held to five hits, the Bruins had made daring base-running, including two successful double steals, count in a 5-1 victory in the first Yale game at New Haven. The Brown pitchers were also allowing only five hits to their rivals. Again on five hits the team came from behind to score four runs in the eighth and beat Tufts for a second time, 5-3. A steal of home by O'Reilly and six-hit pitching by Dye were features. On four hits Brown toppled the proud Harvard team 2-1 in the midst of its spectacular season. It was a scrappy game with the Crimson captain ejected from the play. Murray topped off his five-hit pitching by retiring the side on strikes in the ninth. Brockton admirers gave Captain Frankie Brown a traveling bag in this game.

Unexpectedly, the series to Providence College was lost when the Friars took a sudden brace in midseason. Sherry shut Brown out in the second game, 5-0, to avenge an earlier defeat, and the rubber-game was a ding-dong affair. Seemingly Brown had it won, having driven two P. C. pitchers from the mound, but an eighth-inning rally tied the score, and two more Friar runs came in the 12th. With a runner on base, Butler slammed one of the longest drives ever seen in Aldrich Field, but an amazing catch robbed him of a homer and a tying run.

Long Island, undefeated earlier in the season, was easy for the Bear, Dye allowing only a handful of hits to aid a 7-1 victory and Welch and O'Reilly hitting well.

A FEW stout-hearted stars gave Brown a respectable track season with three dual-meet triumphs and a second place in the New England Intercollegiate totals. The M.I.T. meet was won in the last event when Brown and Burgess placed one-two in the javelin to make the score 70½-64½. Brown also won the hammer, Thompson the 100, while Pearce ran two fine races to annex the half and quarter. The Freshmen beat the Engineers more handily, 83½-42½, virtually sweeping the weight events. Constable was a double winner in 220 and quarter, while Bernstein took the 100 and broad jump.

Host to 16 teams in the New England Intercollegiate, 15 of them scoring, Brown won four titles and took enough scattering points to amass a total of 23½, one of the best showings it has made in several years. Unfortunately, however, Holy Cross was placing men in more events and scoring 35½. Pearce won the 880 in the creditable time of 1:58¾ for his last undergraduate victory. McShane, vaulting 12 feet 9 inches, defended his 1935 championship in this event, set a new Brown varsity and Brown field mark, and broke the New England Intercollegiate record as well. In winning the broad jump, Singen also set a new Brown varsity and field record at 23 feet 7⅞ inches, supplanting Irving Reid's old mark of 1924. Among Singen's competitors was Johnson of M.I.T. indoor I.C.A.A.A. champion. Horowitz's winning toss in the shot put was 46:8. Widnall took a third in the 440, while Ladd had a fourth in the broad jump and joined Singen in participating in the 11-way tie for third in the high jump.

In the I.C.A.A.A. meet Brown took six points for 13th place in the field, thanks to Singen's broad jump of 23 feet 8¼ inches, a new Brown mark which won him a third, and Horowitz's third in the shot at 47:7½, his best of the season.

The varsity tennis team, winner of eight out of 11 meetings, ended its season by beating Rhode Island, Holy Cross, and Tufts, while losing to Harvard, Amherst, and the East Side Tennis Club. Golf ended with a 4½-1½ triumph over Worcester Tech, while Charlie Round went to the New England Intercollegiate and took a good fourth.

* * * * *

An Official Summation

BROWN teams turned in the best record in a decade during the academic year just closed by registering an average of .533 in a total of 184 contests, writes Joe Nutter, Athletic Publicity aide. Twenty-six teams operating in 12 sports scored 98 triumphs, 83 losses and three ties. A total of 331 or one-fourth of the entire undergraduate body participated in intercollegiate sports during the year.

Two Brown teams were undefeated during the year. The freshman golf and soccer teams were undefeated and untied, and the freshman tennis team won six of seven contests. The varsity baseball and varsity tennis teams had the best records of the varsity combinations. Teams which won more contests than they lost were the varsity wrestling, hockey, soccer, fencing, swimming, baseball, track and tennis and freshman football, soccer, swimming, track, tennis and golf.

The varsity swimming and wrestling teams won first places in the New England Intercollegiate meets, and the varsity track team finished in second place behind the great Holy Cross team in the New England Intercollegiate track association meet.

The averages struck by all teams were as follows: Varsity—football, .111; soccer, .625; basketball, .471; fencing,

.750; hockey, .583; swimming, .571; wrestling, .666; baseball, .706; lacrosse, .285; track, .600; tennis, .727; golf, .400.

Freshman—football, .600; soccer, 1.000; basketball, .384; fencing, .500; hockey, .500; swimming, .750; wrestling, .400; baseball, .143; lacrosse, .200; track, .600; tennis, .857; golf, 1.000.

Brown track men scored 10 points in I.C.A.A.A. competition during the year, turning in four points in the Indoor championships at New York and six points in the outdoor meet at Philadelphia on Memorial Day. Brown varsity records were established in the 440, broad jump, hammer throw and pole vault, and Reginald McShane, the captain-elect of track, broke the New England Intercollegiate mark in the vault.

It has been the most auspicious all-around showing in many years. While many talented contenders are being lost through graduation, the general run of ability in the freshman and holdover varsity candidates is high, and the Bruin will look forward to even greater success in the coming academic year.

* * * * *

Girls Hold Brown Field Records!!!

YES, the headline is right. Several track records for Brown Field are held by girls.

And before some irate alumnus writes in to say that this is a fine how-de-do, we hasten to tell how such a thing came to pass.

It all happened because the final American Olympic Tryouts for Women and the National Senior Women's Track and Field Championships were held in the Brown stadium on July 4th. Records established in such un-masculine events as the 80 metres hurdles race, the 50 metres run, and the baseball throw must stand as field marks simply because there is no man's mark for them. And so it was no humiliating experience for the girls to make these records.

In fact it was a large event with competitors from all the country including South and West and with a great holiday crowd finding much interest in the meet and its excellent setting. The condition of the track and the quality of the competition was attested by performances which surpassed the accepted world's records.

Prof. Frederick W. Marvel of Brown was an honorary referee of the meet, along with Governor Theodore Francis Green '87, while other Brunonians helped in a splendidly run affair. Among them were Corporation Trustee L. Ralston Thomas, a timer; Edward A. Bromage, javelin official; Tom and Bill Gilbane, shot put officials; Joe Nutter and Tom Taylor, press stewards; Jack Horton, inspector of implements; W. Irving Reid, Joe Buonanno, Bernie Buonanno and Bernie Lewis, broad jump officials; J. D. E. Jones, Jr., high jump officials; D. O. McLaughry and Caesar Danesi, discus officials.

* * * * *

A Junior McLaughry

COACH D. O. McLAUGHRY's older son, John, graduating last month from Phillips Academy, Andover, won the Merit Cup in Athletics, given each year to the athlete who has done most for the academy. McLaughry was fullback on the Andover eleven last fall, and threw the hammer and the discus on the track team. In the hammer throw he holds the Andover-Exeter meet record.

Interscholastic Records

THE crowded stands at the 32nd annual Brown Interscholastics had an extra thrill when Ray Trail, Mohawk Indian boy from the St. Regis reservation in New York State, sped through the mile run in time that broke the world's scholastic record for the event. The mark, 4:22.3, was also good for a new Brown field record. Less than an hour later, Trail also won the two-mile, an event he had never before run, in time that was only two-fifths of a second off the old meet record set at Andrews Field, but Trail and his team-mates from Mont Pleasant, Schenectady, had to yield meet honors to a strong squad from Moses Brown School. It was the first time since 1916 that a Rhode Island team had won the meet.

With a host of schools from eight states in the field, 23 of them shared in the scoring, but Moses Brown tallied 30 points, many of them coming from such stars as Captain Ken Clapp and Don Blount. The latter had a rival in Dunbar Young of Hope High, and each kept breaking the Brown Field record in taking the lead. Blount finally won with a leap of 24 feet, $\frac{1}{2}$ inch, as against Young's 23:9. In winning the low hurdles, Clapp, who had also taken the 100-yard dash, beat Hartmann of Brookline, holder of the world's record. Hartmann had equalled the meet record of 15.2 in the high hurdles.

Other record performances were those of Marshall of Mont Pleasant in the 440, where he set a new meet record; and Byrnes of New Utrecht, Brooklyn, who set a new meet and field record of 6:33 $\frac{3}{4}$ in the high jump. Another brilliant entrant was Rodenkirchen of Dickinson High, Jersey City, National A.A.U. interscholastic champion.

The big entry list from representative schools, together with the remarkable achievements, shows the firmly established position the Brown meet holds in schoolboy circles. Once again it was handled without a hitch.

* * * * *

Yachting at Brown Assured

GUARANTY of an undergraduate yachting program at Brown University was given on Commencement Day when additional gifts, as announced elsewhere, were added to the fund being raised for that purpose. The sport, carried on unofficially in dinghies for the last few seasons came into new prominence this year when the Brown Yacht Club borrowed enough boats to have 14 in competition in the first Intercollegiate Dinghy Regatta ever to be held. Brown was host to six other colleges at Bristol, R. I.

The project, supported by Professor Zenas R. Bliss, navigator of the 1935 America's Cup Defender, and undergraduate Commodore Deane Fox, received the full sanction of the Associated Alumni at the Advisory Council meeting in February. A committee was appointed under the chairmanship of Sidney Clifford '15 which raised enough money to purchase and maintain a sufficient number of boats for three years. Mr. Clifford had been one of the original proponents of the idea, which now has full University approval. Professor Bliss, an honorary member of the Brown Yacht Club, will be in charge of the program.

Many alumni from various parts of the country have expressed their enthusiasm over the project, believing that it will prove an appropriate and compelling attraction in bringing a high type of boy to Brown.

Mr. Burlingame Retires

AFTER more than 30 years as an administrative officer of Brown University, Comptroller Edwin A. Burlingame retired from his duties at the close of the past academic year, having reached the retirement age of 70. He has been Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds since he came to Brown in 1904, and he became Comptroller in 1917, when the office was created. In the latter office and as assistant treasurer he has been in charge of the business of the University and in general charge of the operation and maintenance of the physical plant. This has grown from 20 buildings in 1904 to more than 40 today.

Four buildings were being completed when Mr. Burlingame was first appointed to office—the John Carter Brown Library, the Engineering building, the Colgate-Hoyt swimming pool and Caswell Hall. In the past 25 years of his work at the University he has seen other additions to the physical plant, including the John Hay Library, Arnold Biological Laboratory, Jesse H. Metcalf Chemical Laboratory, Littlefield and Hegan Hall, Marston Hall, Brown Field, Aldrich Field and Aldrich Gymnasium.

Mr. Burlingame has served on the building committee of most of the buildings which have been erected at Brown and Pembroke during the past 25 years. During the academic year 1933-34 he was acting treasurer, following the death of Frank W. Matteson. In October, 1934, he was elected assistant treasurer.

Active with associations of college and university officers concerned with finance, he has served on a number of committees in these associations. In 1924 he was president of the Association of Business Officers of Colleges and Universities of the Eastern States.

* * * * *

A Texan Appraisal

DR. JAMES QUAYLE DEALEY '90, editor of the Dallas Morning News, is characterized as economist, sociologist, editor, by Hilton R. Greer whose articles, "Prose Writers of Texas," are appearing once a week in the Dallas Journal. Mr. Greer reviews at length Dr. Dealey's career as professor and editor, describes his text books, and says that "from the literary point of view, perhaps, Dr. Dealey's best work is the 'Foreign Policies of the United States,' published in 1927, and written from his lectures over an extended period of years to officers at the United States Naval War College in Newport. Behind this book lie many friendly associations with ranking Navy officers. His most scholarly book is 'Our State Constitution,' published in 1915.

"The knowledge and understanding of the seasoned political and social economist have been revealed in many of the editorials which Dr. Dealey has written since he became chief of the editorial staff of The News in 1929. The appeal and force of his writings, both as an author of books and in these later years as the author of daily editorial comment, lie in their directness and clarity, and in a fine, careful, and intuitive choice of simple words. The result is a pleasing style that has made his books and editorials readable."

* * * * *

Athletic Notes

VICTOR in the first annual Intercollegiate Dinghy Races held at Bristol, Brown was nosed out for the honors in the M.I.T. invitation intercollegiates at Cambridge later this year. M.I.T. led with 115, followed by Brown with 113½, Dartmouth 113, Cornell 106, Harvard 105, Williams 98, Rhode Island 79, Colby 66½, and Yale 53.

Fifty-seven wearers of the Brown varsity letter received their degrees at the 168th annual Commencement. Of the Seniors Norman Appleyard and Harrie E. Hart had the most, seven each.

The Brown University Rifle Club with a membership of 27 has been given a charter by the National Rifle Association, an N.R.A. of long standing.

* * * * *

Vermont's Next Governor?

JUDGE ERNEST E. MOORE '06 of Ludlow, Speaker of the Vermont House of Representatives, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor of Vermont. In his statement he said:

"I strongly believe in progress but by orderly and studied methods, in the traditional Vermont style that has made Vermont's record a fine one. There are many things we would gladly do, but this is a small State and our revenues are limited. In State affairs as in private ones, the only safe course to follow is to live within our income. This course I should insist upon."

Moore was a pioneer in woman suffrage in Vermont. He represented Ludlow in the Vermont House in 1915-16 and 1917-18, and returned in 1935 to become Speaker. He fought the parkway and submarginal land bills introduced to draw Federal money to Vermont on the ground that the bills interfered with States' rights and were also economically unsound. He took the stump especially to oppose the Green Mountains parkway, and his speeches were generally conceded to have been a major factor in defeating the referendum on the subject.

"The legislative session over which he presided," said the Bellows Falls Times, "left Judge Moore with a definite reputation as a stalwart fighter, an accomplished political tactician, and a leader of no mean parts. . . . This reputation has lingered as memory of the session has waned, and although a late entrant in the race to be run next September, his friends confidently point to him as the next probable Governor of Vermont."

* * * * *

Tercentenary Lectures

"RHODE ISLAND FURNITURE" by Norman M. Isham '86 is the third of a series of illustrated lectures prepared by the Community Art Project under Brown auspices. Each lecture consists of a written text accompanied by lantern slides and is available without charge to interested groups in the State. Previous lectures were prepared by the late Howard Preston '83 on "The Life and Work of Gilbert Stuart," and by John Hutchins Cady '03 on "The Architectural and Civic Development of Providence. Applications for bookings may be made to Prof. George E. Downing of Brown, secretary of the Community Art Project.

* * * * *

Aid to the Tercentenary

TO MANY a Providence Tercentenary attraction the University lent its aid. Chief among them were events in the Brown Stadium where an historical pageant, a band muster and an evening musical event, and various sporting features including the Women's Olympic Trials and National Championships were held.

News from the Brown Clubs

WITH Professor Arthur E. Watson '88 as guest, the Brown Engineering Association held its spring meeting at the Brown Outing Reservation, Greenville, Saturday evening, May 23. Members were present from New York City, Boston, New Haven, Schenectady and other places, and the supper and program afterward were up to the high standard the engineers have always set for their gatherings. Speakers included President Barbour, classmate of Professor Watson; Dr. A. D. Mead, vice president; George Campbell '07, Joseph H. Cull '10, and Reginald M. Pease '20, president of the association. There were letters from Charles G. Burgess '24 and Wayne M. Faunce '21, former presidents. Joseph H. Stannard '15 was toastmaster, and Professor James A. Hall '08 was chairman in charge of arrangements.

President Barbour's tribute to Professor Watson as friend and teacher was a moving one; and Professor Watson in turn gave an absorbing account of his years at Brown, his interest in teaching, and his fondness for Brown as a university with which, he said, it was a great honor to be associated. The association gave Professor Watson an illuminated scroll, making him a life member, and there was applause as Professor Watson said that he had also been made a life member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, an unusual honor. Professor W. H. Kenerson showed beautiful moving pictures in color of the inter-collegiate dinghy races in May at Bristol, which Brown won.

PRESIDENT Royal W. Leith '12 of the Associated Alumni and A. H. Gurney '07, Alumni Secretary, were guests at the organization meeting of the North Shore Brown Club, held Monday evening, May 25, at the Salem Country Club, Peabody, Mass. The alumni were invited by S. Abbott Hutchinson '31 and Paul F. Mackesey '32.

They responded well, and enthusiasm was strong. Frank L. Mansur '10, superintendent of schools of Swampscott, was named temporary president and Hutchinson temporary secretary. . . . The Brown Club of Rochester has re-elected Charles E. Ewing '01, president; Rev. Alfred E. Isaac '04, vice president; and Malcolm C. Brown '20, secretary, for 1936-37. . . . The Brown Club of Chicago, led by President John Monk '24, met in the show rooms of H. C. Nahigian & Co., rug dealers (H. C. Nahigian '04), 2522 West Chicago Avenue, Friday, May 22, for a spring rally under the engaging title of the Big Brown Bairam, and delegations came from Milwaukee, Rockford, and other places near Chicago, to enjoy what is sometimes known as a gala evening. . . .

THE annual golf tournament of the Brown University Club in New York at the Wykagyl Golf Club, New Rochelle, June 24, brought out a large number of golfers. Gerald Donovan '14 was in charge, and a Brown Club Cup was in competition for the first time. The Club will give its yearly luncheon the week of Sept. 14 to Freshmen entering Brown as members of the Class of 1940. . . . The Brown Club of Western Maine, meeting at the Columbia Hotel, Portland, Wednesday, May 27, elected as officers for 1936-37: President—Rev. Dr. M. Joseph Twomey '00; Vice President—John O. Nilan '30; Secretary—Robert F. Skillings '11; Treasurer—Dr. Thomas J. Burrage '98; Executive Committee (with officers)—Henry D. Burrage '33, John D. Peterson '34. The Alumni Secretary was guest of the Club. . . . The Brown Club of Woonsocket had Professor Ben W. Brown '19 as its speaker at the spring meeting in May to tell the story of the theatre in Rhode Island. . . . The Brown Club of Akron met early in June under the leadership of President S. A. Steere '07 to talk about reunions, Commencement, and similar topics, and President W. A. Moffett '14 wrote that the Brown Club of Detroit would hold its annual meeting shortly before Commencement. . . . The Executive Committee of the Brown Club of Providence held its final spring meeting at the Outing Reservation, Thursday, June 4, with Vice President Adams, Dean Arnold, Thomas W. Taylor '25, and Coaches McLaughry, Myers, Ball, and the Gilbane brothers of the football squad as guests. Nelson B. Jones '28 acted as chef for a fine al fresco supper, after which came a short business session.

* * *

Resolutions on Retirement

WITH the retirement this June of Professor Lindsay Todd Damon and Arthur Eugene Watson, it is appropriate to recall the resolutions adopted at the February meetings of the Advisory Council of the Associated Alumni with respect to these two popular figures. They read as follows:

LINDSAY TODD DAMON

With the retirement of Professor Lindsay Todd Damon this June, the English Department of Brown University will lose the fine gentleman who has led it further on its eminent path. For more than thirty years he has inspired Brown men, both students and colleagues, many of whom he helped bring to Brown. Continuing with the vigor of his undergraduate crew days at Harvard, he turned eagerly to his new work ashore here on the mainland. He was well schooled in the art of living; he has appreciated the place of fine writing among the amenities, and roved those fields happily.

THE RINGERS DON'T SHOW. A delightfully informal snapshot of President Barbour and Professor Watson at the Brown Engineers' meeting at the Brown Outing Reservation, where Professor Watson was guest of honor. The photo was by A. J. Winslow '30.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Intellectually honest, impatient with mediocre scholarship, yet kindly and understanding, he has the affection of a host of grateful friends. His editorial services have been conspicuous. A modernist, he appreciates deeply the legacy of Time. The useful years before him will be marked by those same fine enthusiasms, to which the warm wishes of all Brown men add a special note of satisfaction.

ARTHUR EUGENE WATSON

Arthur Eugene Watson, who graduated with the Class of 1888, began his career as electrical engineer with Thomson-Houston Company and the General Electric Company. After seven years in the commercial field he returned to Alma Mater as Assistant Professor of Physics, later becoming Assistant and then Associate Professor of Electrical Engineering. Through the years he has kept closely in touch with General Electric Company and other progressive concerns as consultant, and advisor. A pioneer as a teacher in his field, he is today a recognized authority in electrical engineering. One of his most notable achievements was the designing of the electrical power plant of the U.S.S. Shenandoah.

Outside the classroom and laboratory his absorbing interest has been in the First Baptist Church; and under the title, "Angell's Apple Orchard," he has written a delightful history of the old church so close to the hearts of all Brown men.

Through the years he has had an active and helpful part in the affairs of the Brown Engineering Association, and with his beloved wife has attended many of the association's sessions and participated in its activities.

The Brown men who have come under his influence count him one of the finest and most lovable characters on College Hill. We shall all look forward to seeing him frequently even though he may no longer follow a regular schedule on the campus. We earnestly wish him many years of contentment.

* * *

Constitutional Amendments

ASSOCIATED Alumni in a brief business meeting on Commencement Day voted revisions in their Constitution recommended by the Board of Directors to permit an increase in the number of Alumni Fund Trustees because "the present Trustees feel that there is more work to be done in order to bring the Fund to a proper position than is possible with the present number of Trustees." The articles follow, as amended:

ARTICLE IX

Alumni Fund—The President and Treasurer of the Associated Alumni, together with not less than six nor more than fifteen others, two of whom shall be members of the Corporation of the University, shall constitute the Board of Trustees of the Alumni Fund. The Executive Committee shall determine from time to time the number of such Trustees within the limits here specified, shall choose the Trustees and determine for what term they shall serve. The Board of Trustees of the

Dogs in Four Figures

EDWARD K. ALDRICH, JR., '02, owner of the Diamond Hill Kennels, Grant Mills, R. I., and breeder of Schipperkes and Salukis, recently refused an offer in the four figures, the Providence Evening Bulletin said, for two of his prize-winning Salukis. There are eight Salukis in the kennels, said to be the largest number owned by an American. The Saluki is known as the royal dog of Egypt, and has been established as a breed in the United States since 1927. Aldrich's Saluki Ri han Ab-Ah has made her championship in the three shows in which she has shown—an unusual record.

Alumni Fund shall make an annual report to the Advisory Council and to the Associated Alumni.

ARTICLE X

Amendments This Constitution may be amended by the Advisory Council at any regular or special meeting by a vote of two-thirds of its members present in person and voting; provided such amendment has been recommended by the Executive Committee and by the Board of Directors and notice of the substance thereof has been published in the ALUMNI MONTHLY.

The revision of Article X was made to correct and clarify a discrepancy.

* * *

At the Corporation Meeting

FORTY-EIGHT new appointments to the Brown faculty, most of them in minor posts, were announced by the University Corporation after its June meeting, in which 17 faculty promotions were also formally approved. Four retirements, 46 resignations, and eight leaves of absence complete the list of changes.

Dr. Hermon C. Bumpus, Senior Fellow and secretary of the corporation, presided at the meeting at the Faculty Club in the absence of President Barbour. Albert L. Scott of New York acted as secretary pro tem.

Thomas B. Appleget '17 of New York, secretary of the Rockefeller Foundation, took his engagement as a life trustee. He was elected last fall. Harold C. Field of this city, treasurer of the corporation, presented his report. Vice President James P. Adams reported for the executive committee for the corporation, and Mr. Scott submitted a report for Pembroke College.

Other reports were presented as follows: Chancellor Henry D. Sharpe, for the committee on trustee vacancies; John Nicholas Brown, for the board of management of the John Carter Brown Library; Dr. Waldo G. Leland of Washington, for the committee on the library; Henry C. Hart for the board of management of the Brown Union.

Chief among the faculty promotions were these:

Biology—Paul Baldwin Sawin to assistant professor; Chemistry—William Walker Russell to associate professor; Economics—Chelcie Clayton Bosland to associate professor; Education—Gilbert Eugene Case to assistant professor; Engineering—Stuart Pullman Cooke to assistant professor;

English—Samuel Foster Damon to professor; Benjamin Williams Brown to associate professor; Leicester Bradner to associate professor.

Geology—Alonzo Wallace Quinn to assistant professor; Carl Colton Branson to assistant professor; German—Detlev Walther Schumann to associate professor; Mathematics—Clarence Raymond Adams to professor; Music—Arlan Ralph Coolidge to associate professor; Arthur Butler Hitchcock to associate professor; Physics—Robert Bruce Lindsay to professor; Political Science and Sociology—Robert E. Lee Faris to assistant professor; Romance Languages—Lawton Parker G. Peckham to assistant professor.

* * *

Dr. Graham Appointed

THE appointment of Dr. Clarence Henry Graham of Clark University, Worcester, as assistant professor of psychology at Brown University for next year marks the fourth addition to the Department of Psychology for 1936-37. An assistant professor at Clark since 1932, Dr. Graham is an outstanding member of the younger school of experimental psychologists which has brought a combination of physical, mathematical and physiological knowledge to bear upon the problems of psychology.

Two of his associates in the Department of Psychology next year, both of whom were recently appointed, are also from Clark University. They will be Dr. Walter Samuel Hunter as professor of psychology, director of the psychological laboratories and chairman of the department, and Dr. Raymond Royce Willoughby as research associate in psychology. Dr. Edward Harris Kemp of Harvard Medical School has been appointed instructor.

Dr. Graham, a native of Worcester, received his A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. from Clark. In 1930-31, Dr. Graham held an honorary fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania. During the following year he was a National Research Council in the biological sciences and pursued his advanced studies with the Johnson Foundation for Medical Physics at the University of Pennsylvania.

Active in his associations with various learned societies, Dr. Graham is a member of the American Psychological Association, the American Physiological Society, the Optical Society of America, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and was recently elected to the Society of Experimental Psychologists, of which he is one of the youngest members.

As an author who has written extensively in his field for scientific journals, Dr. Graham has been particularly concerned in his researches with problems in the physiological psychology of the senses.

His most notable work on the basic mechanism of the human sensory experience has

Marrying Judge

If Judge Walter A. Briggs '06, has not yet married his 250th couple, he soon will have done so. Last month this special justice of the Fourth District Court in Attleboro, Mass., turned in the record of his 244th wedding to the city clerk.

been on the electrical phenomena associated with the activation of the retina of the eye by light. He has made fundamental contributions to fact and theory in the psychophysiology of vision.

* * *
Lalor Advisor

PROF. Charles A. Kraus, director of chemical research at Brown University, has been elected to the Advisory Board of the newly incorporated Lalor Foundation for scientific research in Wilmington, Del. Prominent scientists and educators from all parts of the country will be serving on the board.

As one of the most outstanding scientists on the Brown campus, Dr. Kraus is especially known nationally for his researches which led to the production of ethyl gasoline, for his contributions to the perfection of ultra-violet lamps, and for his work on "pyrex" or heat-resisting glass. In the past two years he has received medals from the Chicago and Northeastern Sections of the American Chemical Society for his researches on the theory of solutions.

The Lalor Foundation, which has just received $400,000 from the late Willard A. Lalor of Chicago, railroad executive, will grant awards for the support of purely scientific research and for fellowships in specified fields. Awards for the coming academic year will include five professorship and fellowship grants of $2,500 each, designed to give recognition to mature scholars of demonstrated ability, and to afford opportunity for men and women to conduct advanced investigations of purely scientific character under the freest possible conditions.

* * *
With the Faculty

PROFESSOR Benjamin W. Brown of the English Department sailed June 20 from Boston on the Scythia to spend the next six months visiting the theatre in Great Britain and on the Continent. Before he left he was re-elected managing director of Sock and Buskin for the new academic year.

Professor William H. Kenerson of the Division of Engineering was re-elected chairman of the Providence Building Board of Review at the organization meeting of the board last month.

Professor Walter H. Snell of the Department of Botany will again head the Audubon Society of Rhode Island in 1936-37. Mrs. H. E. Walter, wife of Professor Walter, will serve as a director of the society for three years.

Professor William T. Hastings of the English Department was the author of "Exit George Wilkins," an article on the authorship of Shakespeare's "Pericles," which appeared in the April number of the Bulletin of the Shakespeare Association of America. Professor Hastings is a contributing editor of the Bulletin.

Professor Laurence S. Foster of the Department of Chemistry was again chosen chairman of the Southern Division of the New England Association of Chemistry Teachers at the annual meeting in Portland, Me., in May. He took a group of students with him to the meeting and accompanied them on a visit to the plant of the Warren Paper Company, Westbrook, Maine.

Members of the Rhode Island Track Coaches' Association had Professor Fred

W. Marvel '94 as their guest of honor at their annual outing June 17 at Peleg Francis Farm, Rehoboth, Mass.

Voting machines ordered and expected for the 1936 election in Rhode Island were to be inspected by Professor Kistler of the Brown Engineering faculty. Conflicting statements had been made by various public officials as to whether the machines filled specifications or not.

Professor Charles Alexander Robinson, Jr., has been appointed to the Commission for the Excavation of the Athenian Agora. The Commission consists of four trustees of the American School for Classical Studies at Athens and, in addition, Professors Capps, Shear and Meritt of Princeton, Professor Van Hook of Columbia and Professor Robinson.

Dr. Henry B. Van Hoesen, Brown University librarian, has been re-elected secretary of the Bibliographical Society of America. The association's officers and members include leading librarians in all parts of the country. Dr. Van Hoesen, who is also president of the American Library Institute, has been librarian at Brown since 1929. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Philological Association, the Mediaeval Academy of America, the American Library Association Council, and associate editor of the Library Quarterly.

* * *

A Tribute to Dr. Mead

(Continued from page 37)

"Let me disabuse you of the idea that the University made Dr. Mead what he is. On the contrary, the University was most fortunate in his advent. It is a very different institution than it was forty odd years ago. It was during the early years of his incumbency, and largely due to his scientific work, that the name of Brown became identified with biological research. Professor Barus had attended to our status on the physics side. Since then there have evolved a series of highly creditable departments that now bring to our gates advanced workers from practically every state in the Union.

"The Class of 1891 numbered on graduation fifty-four—they were largely from New England. The Graduate School—a single department—is now larger than was the entire college at that time and Saturday last no less than sixty-three advanced degrees were conferred upon men and women who had come to this University to continue their educational careers for one, two, and three years after their graduation.

"WHO was the efficient agent in developing the natural resources of Narragansett Bay to such an extent that could his methods have been copyrighted, the royalties would be sufficient—amply sufficient—to render Brown a veritable Radio City of scientific investigation?

"Why was Dr. Mead selected as the President of the Rhode Island Hospital? Why has his department been a collateral force along with Dr. Chapin in elevating the work of the Board of Health? Why has he been continued for twenty or thirty years as a leading spirit on the Board of the Rhode Island School of Design? Why has he been elected to Trusteeship at Wellesley and Middlebury and why have honorary degrees been conferred by several sister institutions?

"I do not have to tell this audience what has occurred within our walls. This College has literally been elevated to the status of a University and is nationally so recognized. Sound educational principles and purposes have been formulated and put into execution and there is at this moment—I believe—not a single leading educational institution that does not have on its faculty those, who at some time, have come under his influence here at Brown.

"I am not claiming that all these good things are only attributable to him but I do claim that he did not prevent their occurrence and that certain other institutions have had equal opportunities but they just didn't have this kind of a man.

"This then is the portrait, Mr. Chancellor, that a few friends of Dr. Mead now invite this audience to unite with them in passing over into your custody. They hope that you and others present will feel that the artist has faithfully recorded an expression with which we have long been familiar and they have confidence that future students and future officers of the University will recognize in it one who at the end of his period of official, efficient, and unselfish service retained in the highest degree the respect, the gratitude, and the affection of the men and women of Brown, of the City, and of the State."

CHANCELLOR SHARPE said in reply: "Speaking for the President, on behalf of the University, I accept this portrait of Albert Davis Mead.

"On behalf of the Corporation, the Faculty, and the thousands of Brown men, who have known him as a teacher, as a scholar, and as an administrator; who have cherished his friendship; who have admired his courage; who have been inspired by his vision; who have caught the spirit of his living—on behalf of all these I thank you, and the committee, and the generous friends who have made this gift possible.

"The name of Albert Davis Mead will forever be written large on the pages of Brunonian history. For forty-one consecutive years he has played a highly significant role in one of the most important periods of growth and development which the University has seen since James Manning opened the doors of his parsonage in 1765.

"During the past ten years he has been a central figure in the processes of reconstruction by which Brown has adjusted herself to meet the educational needs of the present day and to fulfill the obligations imposed upon her by history, traditions, and environment.

"Piker's Garden"

"PIKER'S garden," Mellinger E. Henry '99 called it when Raymond H. Torrey of the New York Evening Post came out to Ridgefield, N. J., to see it. He gave it this name because he could not afford expensive nursery stock, so he gathered his plants as he could. The result is a wild forest garden in his yard, 70 by 140 feet. Many of them were brought back from the Southern mountains where Mr. Henry and his wife go primarily in quest of folk ballads.

"The portrait of no man is more worthy of companionship in this gallery with Nicholas Brown, Manning, Wayland, Lincoln, Harkness, Diman, Andrews, Appleton, and Faunce than is the portrait of Mead. It is received with profound thanks and will be given a place of honor on these walls."

DR. MEAD graduated from Middlebury College in the Class of 1890 with honors in natural history. While in College, Dr. Mead learned of the work of Dr. Hermon Carey Bumpus and decided that he wanted to pursue advanced studies under his direction. Immediately after his graduation, Dr. Mead went to the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole where Dr. Bumpus was teaching during the summer. In the fall of 1890 he came to Brown University with Dr. Bumpus who had been appointed Assistant Professor of Zoology in that year. Dr. Mead was the first graduate student in what is now the Department of Biology. He took his A.M. degree at Brown in 1891. He began the following year his research on the problem of cell-lineage—tracing the early development of the egg, cell by cell, until organs are formed. Eventually his observations and experiments included the origin of the so-called centrosomes—a phenomenon which has recently been brought again into controversy.

He came to Brown in the fall of 1895 as Instructor in Neurology in the Department of Comparative Anatomy, a new department created by the Corporation for Dr. Bumpus. In 1896 he was promoted to be Associate Professor of Embryology and Neurology.

When Dr. Bumpus resigned in 1901 to become Director of the American Museum of Natural History in New York, Dr. Mead succeeded him as Professor of Comparative Anatomy and Head of the Department—the youngest full professor on the Faculty. In 1908 his title was changed to Professor of Biology.

IN 1897 Dr. Mead began the study of the economic-biological resources of Narragansett Bay under the direction of Dr. Bumpus, who had been appointed a Commissioner of Inland Fisheries. During the first summer he carried on his work in an improvised house boat laboratory in the Kickemuit River at the head of Mount Hope Bay. He worked for two years on the habits and the rate of growth of the starfish and published several scientific papers on this subject. He also began his study of the biology of the soft shell clam.

In 1899, with the co-operation of graduate students, he reconstructed an old scow and made it into a larger house boat laboratory and anchored it in Wickford Harbor. Here he began his work of the problem of the rearing of lobsters through the precarious period of early larval stages. In 1900 he built, under the auspices of the Commission of Inland Fisheries, a new floating laboratory; continued his experiments with lobsters, and extended his studies to include the scallop, the clam, and some fishes.

During the years 1896 to 1910 Dr. Mead was in immediate charge of this experiment station and here he developed a new principle and method in lobster culture and fish culture which attracted the attention of marine biologists and fisheries commissions in all parts of the world.

Sentenced to Schooling

POLICE JUSTICE CARL E. TUCKER of Niagara Falls, the Associated Press said under date of June 17, "announced today that beginning June 23 he would sentence habitual traffic violators to a five weeks' course at a school for accident prevention."

"A special course has been arranged by adult education officials, the police and the motor vehicle officials. Justice Tucker (Brown 1890) said he would keep the 'students' on probation until they returned to court with a 'diploma' showing that they had passed an examination in the course."

It was for this work that he was awarded two prizes by the Fourth International Fisheries Congress held in Washington in 1908. The delegates to this Congress from some twenty nations visited this Wickford floating laboratory. The experiments were of special interest to the Fisheries Commissions of England and Germany which were then experimenting with the problem of lobster culture. In recognition of the success of the new principle and devices which he had developed in Narragansett Bay, Dr. Mead was elected a Corresponding Member of the Deutscher Seefischerei Verein.

WHEN Dr. Bumpus resigned in 1901, Dr. Mead became a member of the Commission and continued the direction of the station. During these years this important work on the economic-biological resources of Narragansett Bay—scientific work which has been of large economic value to the State of Rhode Island—was carried on by Dr. Mead with the assistance of graduate students in the Department of Biology at Brown. Many of these graduate students are now holding professorships of biology in colleges and universities in various parts of the country.

For more than twenty-five years Dr. Mead directed the work of the Department of Biology at Brown and saw it develop from a small department with inadequate facilities for instruction and research to the enviable position which it holds today among the biological laboratories of the country and in the minds of thousands of Alumni who received instruction in this field at Brown. The Department of Biology, as it developed under his leadership, has been recognized as the model of the "departmental community"—an intimate association of teachers and students with a common intellectual interest carrying on their work together.

During the World War, Dr. Mead was one of the six members of the University's Council to adjust the University's program to the war needs of the Nation. After the Armistice, he was Chairman of the Committee on the Curriculum which drafted the statement of the policy under which the University organized for peace as it had previously organized for war.

WHEN Dr. Faunce's health became impaired in 1925, the Corporation turned to Dr. Mead and asked him to assist Dr. Faunce in the administration of the University—a choice which was greeted by enthusiastic approval on the part of the members of the Faculty. He served first as Secretary of the Advisory and Executive Committee and after 1926, as Vice-President. When Dr. Barbour was elected to the Presidency in 1928, the Corporation, at the request of Dr. Barbour, asked Dr. Mead to accept a permanent appointment as Vice-President.

During these years, Dr. Mead's chief responsibilities have been related to the personnel of the faculty and the administration of the educational process. He has been largely responsible for the selection and appointment of the strong men who have been added to the teaching staff during the past ten years. During the academic year 1931-32, while Dr. Barbour was abroad serving as a member of the Laymen's Foreign Missions Inquiry, Dr. Mead served as Acting President of the University. Since 1932 he has been a member of the Advisory and Executive Committee.

Dr. Mead has served on all of the major committees of the Faculty of the University. He has been chairman of the Committee on the Curriculum for a number of years. He has played a major part in some of the most important developments at the University during the past fifteen years—the formulation of the educational policy of the University enunciated by the Corporation in 1929; the formal organization of graduate study under the Graduate School; the adoption of a policy of selective admission; the development of the work in Art, Music, Psychology, Philosophy, Linguistics; and the development of cooperative arrangements with the Rhode Island School of Design and the hospitals of the City and State.

Dr. Mead received the honorary degree of Sc.D. from the University of Pittsburgh in 1912, from Middlebury College in 1916, and from Rhode Island State College in 1927. In 1915 he was honored by election as a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Society of Naturalists, and the American Society of Zoologists.

Dr. Mead has known Brown University as a graduate student, as an Instructor, as a Professor, as the Head of a Department, as Vice-President and as Acting President. Since he came to Brown forty-one years ago as one of its youngest instructors, he has seen all of the men who were then on the Faculty of the University except Frederick T. Guild, the Registrar, complete their active service and, in the case of those who have retired during the past ten years, it has devolved upon him to select the men to fill their places.

Brunonians Far and Near

BY A. H. GURNEY

1877

Rev. Frank L. Sullivan, field representative of the Watchman-Examiner, is living at 5344 Race Avenue, Chicago.

The Alumni Office has confirmed the news of the death of James Prentice Kelley, teacher and author, in Belmont, Mass., Aug. 10, 1933. During his career he taught at Colby Academy, Suffield School, Lenox School, New York City, and Greenwich, Conn., Academy. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Upsilon.

1881

Cornelius W. Pendleton continues active in the practice of law at 726 A. G. Bartlett Building, Los Angeles, Calif. His mail address is 1310 South St. Andrews Place, Los Angeles.

1884

Paul Henson, whose address has been lacking at the Alumni Office for some years, is reported to be living at 710 North Spruce Street, Kingman, Kan. Your Class Secretary regrets that he was not able to find Henson until after the celebration of the Class's 50th anniversary.

1886

William Allan Dyer, representing the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce, has been unusually active in recent weeks trying to keep the Remington-Rand factory in Syracuse. As trouble between the company and its employees broke into the open, Dyer and Mayor Rolland B. Marvin stepped into the picture, sent out ballots to all of the 1,836 employees to find out, if possible, the attitude of the workers; and Dyer, as a neutral observer, gave radio talks to urge careful consideration before either side took drastic action. The union, however, called a strike, and Dyer thereafter worked with city and Government officials to arbitrate the dispute.

Professor Emeritus Albert Knight Potter was elected a member of the executive committee at the 292nd annual meeting of the First Baptist Church, Providence, in May.

1888

Dean Emeritus William Allen Wilbur of George Washington University is living at 3931 Legation Street, Washington, D. C.

Professor Emeritus Arthur E. Watson has been elected a life member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in which he has been active for many years.

The Most Perfect Tongue

FRANCIS J. O'BRIEN '16, speaking before the Rhode Island Branch of the New England Classical Association at the spring meeting in Providence on "The Value of the Latin Classics," said that Latin was "the most perfect form of speech yet to be found among men, and that most of the modern critics pay high tribute to the Latin classics."

Big Names in Topeka

"TOPEKA's big news may be Alfred Landon," said F. P. A. in The Conning Tower of the New York Herald Tribune last month, "but that town is also the home of the author whose book, published in 1896, had the greatest sale of any book published in the United States between 1873 and today: 'In His Steps'." Of course all of F. P. A.'s readers knew at once that the author of the book is Rev. Dr. Charles M. Sheldon '83.

1889

Rev. William G. Lathrop has retired after 45 busy and energizing years in the Baptist ministry. He has the enviable reputation of having missed only three definite appointments in that period.

Prescott F. Jernegan, retired, has taken up his residence at 267 Throckmorton St., Mill Valley, Calif.

There are four daughters in George P. Grant's family, and it is an interesting fact that each daughter has two daughters, and one also has three sons. Eleven grandchildren sound like a record for the Class.

Francis Burdick reports a change of address to 78 Court Street, Freehold, N. J.

1891

Joseph N. Ashton of Andover is a director as well as clerk of the General Theological Library of Boston, which held its annual meeting late in May and elected President Clarence A. Barbour '88 and Justice Fred T. Field '00 vice presidents for Rhode Island and Massachusetts respectively. All leading denominations are represented on the advisory committee. During the past year the library loaned 17,400 books to 1,693 New England ministers.

Frank L. Hinekey has been elected a member of the Council of the Harvard Law School Association.

1893

Jane S. Matteson, daughter of Archibald C. Matteson and Mrs. Matteson, received her bachelor's degree, cum laude, from Bryn Mawr last month.

Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn went to San Francisco in May to discuss adult education and at the same time to consider with his co-workers plans to continue the San Francisco School of Social Studies, which has been going for three years with Meiklejohn as director. Joseph Henry Jackson, columnist of a San Francisco newspaper, said:

"Founded to develop a new method of adult study, based on the plan used in Dr. Meiklejohn's Experimental College at Wisconsin, the school has conducted 51 study groups here with an average membership of 11 each. Students come from all walks of life; teachers, dressmakers, industrial workers, ministers, clerks, salesmen, housewives, physicians and many other sorts of people are represented. The school charges no fees, asks and gives no credits or diplomas. Financial support comes from volunteer sponsors who recognize in the school a unique opportunity to foster the development, under Dr. Meiklejohn and his staff of teachers, of a method of free inquiry and discussion by mature Americans of the ideas and institutions of their society.

"The school has no ax to grind; it attracts more students than its staff can handle and has plans under way for further experiments in adult education. From its headquarters in San Francisco it is now conducting a campaign for support in the carrying on of its program for next year."

1896

Of particular interest to the class at Commencement time was a photograph in the Faunce House exhibition room which showed several '96 men taking part as undergraduates in a representation of the 1769 Commencement. Recognizable and prominent were Locke, Gamwell, Murdock, and Call.

Burton S. Flagg has been elected Trustee at Large for Massachusetts by the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society. Flagg holds many positions of a fiduciary character.

Rev. J. Canfield Van Doren is pastor of the Community Presbyterian Church, Merrick, N. Y., and lives at 194-11 100th Ave. in the neighboring village of Hollis.

Charles Reginald Easton took the part of George Washington in the pageant "Freedom," shown at the First Baptist Meeting House in June in connection with the Providence tercentenary.

Dr. George A. Matteson's son, George A. Matteson, Jr., was scheduled to be a member of the crew of the schooner yacht entered by Dr. Philemon Truesdale of Fall River in the ocean race from Bermuda to Cuxhaven, Germany, this month.

1897

Dr. H. W. N. Bennett, senior member of the Manchester, N. H., School Board, presented the diplomas to the largest graduating class, 339, in the history of Central High School at the graduation exercises, June 16. "Your ability to face the future depends upon your adaptability," he told the graduates.

1898

Students of Edward S. Rhodes School, Cranston, have given a tree to the school in memory of John K. Fenner, late superintendent of schools of Cranston.

1901

Edward B. Lederer, retired from business, has settled at 2 North Plaza Place, Atlantic City, N. J.

Henry C. Hart has begun his third consecutive term as president of The Players, well known Providence dramatic group.

Col. G. A. Taylor's ten months' old English setter pup, Norwotock Kansas Pete, has taken during the current season at the Cambridge, Hartford, Worcester, and Springfield dog shows seven firsts and a special, either individually or braced with his sire, Lake Ridge Dictator. The young blue belton was named for the Indian name of Old Hadley, Mass., and the Gordon setter which used to accompany the Colonel to classes on the Hill.

1902

Edward K. Aldrich's Salukis, Abu Ah Ah, Rashka Ah Ah, and Ch. El Zolario, were prize winners at the annual Morris and Essex dog show in New Jersey last month.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Dr. James W. Leech was elected second vice president of the Rhode Island Medical Society at the last annual meeting after having served as secretary for some years.

Miss Eleanor Tillinghast, daughter of Frederick W. Tillinghast and Mrs. Tillinghast, was an honor member of the graduating class of Vassar College in June. She is the author of "Three Sonnets on Greek Sculpture," which appeared in the ninth volume of the Vassar Journal of Undergraduate Studies.

Samuel Cohen's new house address is 224 Riverside Drive, Apt. 34, New York City.

1903

Dr. V. S. Babasianian, who has been a member of the Department of Chemistry, Lehigh University, since 1906, has become an authority on the chemistry of thiophene, a hobby of his that he combines with his outdoor hobby of mountain climbing.

Lester E. Dodge, head of the Dodge Family Association, was in charge of the 1936 celebration of Dodge Day, which commemorated the 275th anniversary of the landing of Trustrum Dodge and his wife, Ann, on Block Island in 1661. The American flag and the Dodge family flag fly every day from poles on the Dodge estate on Block Island's main street.

Charles E. G. Dickerson has been concert-master of the Providence Symphony Orchestra since its organization.

1905

FOR the second time the Class of 1905 Scholarship this year was awarded to Ambrose J. Murray '36, of Swansea, Mass. The recipient, who entered Brown from Tabor Academy, was one of the most prominent members of the class just graduated. He was a Cammarian Club man, captain of varsity soccer, and star pitcher on the baseball team for three seasons. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Rev. George D. Allison, minister of Wilmette, Ill., Baptist Church, is giving much time, the Wilmette Life says, "to the presentation of lectures on 'Roger Williams, Pioneer of Liberty,' in connection with the current celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations. . . . Dr. Allison has specialized in the political and religious teachings of Roger Williams for years, having begun when a student at Brown University."

Paul C. DeWolf portrayed General Lord Cornwallis in the pageant, "Freedom," showing three centuries of Rhode Island life and given at the First Baptist Meeting House, Providence, early in June.

George B. Bullock's son, T. Brenton Bullock '38, will study at the Sorbonne, Paris, during his Junior year, 1936-37, as a result of his high academic standing and the particular interest he has shown in French and French literature since he has been at Brown. He will go abroad on a Delaware Scholarship and a special scholarship made possible by the Department of Romance Languages and Literature on the Hill. His first stop for intensive study will be at Tours. Young Bullock came to Brown from Newton, Mass., High School.

John S. Palmer and Mrs. Palmer of Providence have given $7,000 to Williams College in memory of their son Julius who, with two other students and their professor, lost their lives in the Mohawk disaster, Jan. 24, 1935. A seismological station will be built, and a scholarship fund to carry the name of Julius Palmer will be established.

A Tenderfoot "Dubbed"

J. HAROLD WILLIAMS '18, Scout Executive of Narragansett Council, Boy Scouts of America, is one scouting official who came up through the ranks. It was a particular pleasure to him, therefore, to induct his son, Jim, as a tenderfoot scout in his old troop, the Third Providence a short time ago. The present Scoutmaster of the troop is Paul W. Slade '28.

1906

The Birmingham School of which Preston S. Moulton has been headmaster for 20 years, held its 79th Commencement in Birmingham, Pa., June 1. During the Moulton regime the school has had a remarkable growth and prosperity.

Philip H. Shaffner's present house address is Barrington, Ill.

1907

William E. Bright's second son, George C. Bright '38, will spend his Junior year studying at the Sorbonne, Paris, under the so-called Delaware Plan for which Professor Horatio Smith of the Brown Department of Romance Languages has been a hearty and effective sponsor.

Victor Budd Schwartz, son of Victor A. Schwartz and Mrs. Schwartz, graduated with honors last month from Deerfield Academy. He has enrolled as a member of the Class of 1940 at Brown.

Francis M. Anderson, serving with the Special Mexican Claims Commission, reports a change of address from the Department of State to 428 Barr Bldg., Washington, D. C.

Three members of the Class are now Alumni Trustees of the University—Henry G. Clark, Claude R. Branch, and Leon F. Payne. Z. Chafee, Jr., went off the Board of Trustees last month after having served for six years. No Alumni Trustee is eligible for renomination until after the lapse of a year from the time his term ends.

1908

Representative John J. O'Connor, chairman of the judiciary committee of the House in Washington, gave a talk on "This Congress" in the National Radio Forum Series over WEAF on June 8.

Carl H. Carson, sales engineer, with his office at 29 Meserole Avenue, Brooklyn, is living now, he writes, at 23 Essex Road, Great Neck, N. Y.

John G. Canfield is president of Hollywood Flight Cosmetics Sales and also eastern sales representative of Westcraft Laboratories, 1265-75 So. Norton Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Miss Gertrude Mason, daughter of Frank F. Mason and Mrs. Mason, won her bachelor's degree at Mount Holyoke College last month. She was one of two Seniors to major in philosophy and do special work under Dr. Ellen B. Talbot.

1909

Irving W. Patterson's son, Irving, Jr., is the present interscholastic golf champion of Rhode Island. Young Pat plays a well-rounded game, the critics say, and will be heard from as he grows older in years and experience.

Chick Butterworth advises us that his present address is 1090 South Main St., Attleboro, Mass. Chick is in sales work.

John Wells is a new member of the Providence Council of Social Agencies, having been elected at the 1936 annual meeting.

Professor John M. W. Bunker is president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Chapter of the Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity, for the current year.

1910

Rev. Stephen D. Pyle and Mrs. Pyle, who have been in this country since early spring, will sail August 1 for Peiping, where Pyle is minister of the Peiping Union Church. He came on for Commencement, marched in the Commencement Procession, and spent several days in and near Providence, visiting Elmer S. Horton, Warren C. (Johnny) Johnson, Ellis L. Yatman '11, and other friends of college days. He hopes to visit a number of Brown men as he goes by easy stages from New York to San Francisco this month.

Arthur D. Draper reports his address to be R. F. D., No. 1, Swift Road, Sarasota, Fla.

B. L. Hénin, who took his A.M. with the Class and who retired last year after 38 years of teaching in colleges and high schools, has sailed for England, where he will attend the summer session at Cambridge University. Later he will go to Cannes on the French Riviera to stay until next January.

Ralph M. Palmer, recently elected Alumni Trustee of the University, will serve as vice president of the Alumni Association of the Graduate Schools of Columbia University for 1936-37.

Dr. Edward J. Shaeffer, manager of the Whiting plant of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, has recently changed his house address to 1286 Atchison Ave., Whiting, Indiana.

1911

Raymond S. Taylor is on the sales staff of the Commercial Supply Company, printing and office supplies, 42 Brooklyn Street, Cambridge, Mass., where he lives at 11 Walnut Avenue. "If any of the boys ask for me," he said in a letter just before Commencement, "please wish them well. Nothing would please me better than to be able to come back to Brown this June to greet the friends of past years—but it is not to be, at least this year."

John V. Keily, new chief of the Division of Roads and Bridges of Rhode Island, is in direct charge of the extensive road and bridge construction now being carried out in the State. Keily, who has been with the State highways offices since graduation as surveyor, bridge inspector and engineer, materials and testing engineer, and assistant

Early Schooling

DR. JOSEPH SMITH's daughter, Ruth Loitman, who was born Nov. 28, 1933, is beginning her education early. She has just finished her first year of school to the satisfaction of her father (Brown 1920), who is assistant superintendent of health of Providence, and her mother, who is also a doctor.

to the director, succeeded to the headship of the division late in May, after the death of Major John H. Caton. He is also a member of the State Planning Board, a director of the Providence Engineering Society, and secretary of the Rhode Island Highway Association.

Russell McKay, Mrs. McKay, and their sons, Wallace B. and James N. B. McKay, visited Mrs. McKay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Bishop, Providence, before returning to their home in Youngstown, O., after our 25th Reunion.

1912

Fred Perry's mind was pretty much on the Thames river in England through the week of June 29 for his son was rowing in the Royal Henley Regatta as a member of the varsity eight from Tabor Academy. Twenty-eight boats from four countries entered the competition for the coveted Thames Challenge trophy, and the Tabor crew bested its succession of opponents to beat the Kent School eight in an All-American final, appropriately on the Fourth of July. The Tabor crew won the National Interscholastic regatta at Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, in May. Young Perry is a football player as well as oarsman, having played right guard on the junior varsity at Tabor last fall. Navigation is one of his favorite studies, and he is an amateur sailor of ability.

1913

William L. Dealey is senior member of the firm of Dealey & Lowe, publishers and printers, which recently leased space in the Cullum Building, 602 South Akard Street, Dallas, Tex., on a long term basis. The firm will publish the Southern Home and Garden and The Southwester, and will also do general printing. It is equipped to print books in three languages, the Dallas News says.

Ira Lloyd Letts was chairman of the Rhode Island delegation which attended the Republican national convention in Cleveland last month.

Herbert F. Osteyce portrayed General Rochambeau in the pageant "Freedom," given last month at the First Baptist Meeting House as part of the Providence tercentenary.

1914

Howard A. Brown's new address is 701 North Belmont Ave., Apt. A, Los Angeles, Calif.

Eli M. Viner, engineer with FHA in Washington, is living at 610 Quintana Place, N. W., in that city.

1915

R. A. Gillis is living in Macedonia, O., but continues to have his office in the Union Trust Building, Cleveland, where he operates as a stock and bond broker.

Warren P. Norton, superintendent of schools of Meadville, Pa., in a letter last month said that his son David was completing his first year at school, but was not exactly an optimist as he, David, had expressed doubt to his mother about passing. Norton asked to be remembered to Cap Crowell and other old friends, adding that he would come back some day to renew friendships.

Dr. George W. Waterman read a paper on the treatment of cancer of the cervix at Rhode Island Hospital for the past five years before the Rhode Island Medical Society's 125th annual meeting in Providence, June 3. The paper dealt with treatment by radium rather than by surgery under general anaesthesia, and Dr. Waterman said that the percentage of survivals after the five-year period is the highest of any series of patients yet recorded anywhere.

1916

Secretary of State Louis W. Cappelli has been advertising Rhode Island in newspapers and magazines and has been greatly surprised, according to the Providence newspapers, at the number of individual requests for information. Cappelli got an appropriation of $12,000 through the General Assembly last winter after a great deal of trouble, and he has used this money to put Rhode Island, where "short distances lend enchantment," in the advertising pages that blaze the beauties and attractions of the State from coast to coast.

Dr. Guy W. Wells is the new secretary of the Rhode Island Medical Society, succeeding Dr. James W. Leech '02.

Joseph F. Halloran is vice president of Davis & Catterall and general manager of the Eureka Printing Co., Clifton, N. J., yet he manages to keep his golf game smooth and efficient. His house address is 83-09 Talbot Place, Kew Gardens, N. Y.

1917

Harvey Sheahan has the sympathy of the Class in the loss of his wife, who died June 15 in Buffalo, leaving two children, a boy and a girl, by an earlier marriage, and an infant daughter. Mrs. Sheahan was Teresa Louise Yates of Buffalo.

1918

H. Ralph Gordon is a deputy clerk of the Board of Elections of Cuyahoga County, Ohio. Ralph, Jr., is entering Shaw High School next fall and will be enrolled in the Class of 1944 at Brown. The Gordon family lives at 15820 Hazel Rd., East Cleveland.

Albert E. Dillingham is branch manager of the Chase Copper and Brass Company, Cleveland, O., where he lives at 15811 Braemar Drive. Al's son is nine—a candidate for the Class of 1950?

Dr. Kenneth L. Burdon was in Providence shortly after Commencement, visiting Dr. Wilfred Pickles and other friends of college days. He is now Assistant Professor of Immunology and Bacteriology at Louisiana State University Medical Centre, New Orleans.

1919

Donald G. Millar, with the American International Corporation, has recently changed his office address to 25 Broad St., New York City. Don is active as an amateur yachtsman, and will sail his boat in most of the summer races on Long Island Sound and neighborhood during the current season.

In the Hudson Bay Region

KENNETH SPRAGUE '17, Montclair, N. J., High School teacher and coach, is on his way with a group of boys for his annual canoe trip into the Hudson Bay Region. For several summers, Ken has been making this trip into the far reaches of Canada, teaching his boys how to paddle, cook, make camp, and live the real life out of doors. And he himself has been getting a lot of fun and exercise and experience out of it.

Representative Red

QUENTIN (RED) REYNOLDS '24, qualifies as one of the ten "most representative young men about town," according to Lucius Beebe, who writes the column, "This New York," for the New York Herald Tribune. He cites the popular "Red" in this light and happy way: "Quentin Reynolds—Sports writer, member of the editorial staff of 'Collier's,' one of the best known of Brown grads and a pillar of organized society at Jack and Charlie's, he is a valiant fellow with the gels and vintages, and his friends include almost every one from Fifty-second Street to Park Row and back."

S. Watson Smith, archaeologist in the field in Arizona during the past year, came back to Providence for Commencement and was the guest of Edgar J. Lanpher and other members of the Class the week end before Commencement.

1920

Dr. Marshall N. Fulton of the Peter Brent Brigham Hospital, Boston, addressed the College of Physicians in Philadelphia and the County Medical Society at Hanover, N. H., in May on subjects of current medical interest. Fulton has just been appointed to the Harvard Faculty as Associate in Medicine.

J. Howard Covell, Mrs. Covell and their three children will sail from New York, August 1, for Yokohama, Japan, where their address will be 73 Kanoe Dai, Naka Ku. Howard will resume teaching in the Mabie School in Yokohama after having spent a year in special study at Union Theological Seminary.

Ernest H. Clough and his family, after spending the summer in Maine, will move from No. Chelmsford, Mass., to 20 Middle Street, Marblehead, Mass., in October. Ike continues on the job as usual with Loomis, Sayles & Co., 140 Federal Street, Boston.

1921

Robert C. McKenny, who teaches American history and civics in Trenton, N. J., Junior High School, has recently changed his house address to 737 Stuyvesant Ave., Trenton.

Evan Gwynne is doing advertising work with Doremus & Company, 120 Broadway, New York City. He has moved to the country, he reports, giving his house address as Mt. Airy Rd., Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Dr. Frank J. Honan led the field of 74 in the spring tournament of the Rhode Island Medical Society held June 17 at the Wannamoisett Country Club. Frank had an 81, two strokes better than Dr. Lester A. Round '10, whose son, Charlie, of the Class of '38, is one of Rhode Island's leading golfers.

Stanley T. Black of the Pawtucket Times is again secretary of the New England Daily Newspaper Association, having been re-elected at the last annual meeting in Boston.

Stephen W. Hopkins's new mail address is 7 St. Clair Ave., Old Greenwich, Conn.

1923

Kenneth P. Sheldon, still on the job with E. A. Pierce & Co., investments, 40 Wall Street, is living at 25 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Brown Alumni Monthly

Published at Brown University by the Associated Alumni

CHESLEY WORTHINGTON '23
Managing Editor

ARTHUR BRAITSCH '23
Business Manager

HENRY S. CHAFEE '09

ALFRED H. GURNEY '07
Secretary

GERTRUDE ALLEN McCONNELL '10
Pembroke Correspondent

Subscriptions, $2 a year. Single copies, 25 cents.
There is no issue during August or September.

Entered at the Providence Post Office as second-class matter

Vol. XXXVII JULY, 1936 No. 2

Lincoln H. Howe is publicity director for the Community Federation of Boston, with his office at 80 Federal Street.

Eugene F. Grunewald, plant engineer with Western Union in New York City, recently changed his house address to 77-54 Austin Street, Forest Hills, N. Y.

William K. Sheehan, lawyer at 50 Broadway, New York City, is living at 325 East 79th Street.

Rev. N. Lester Lawrence, pastor of the Bergen Point Baptist Church, Bayonne, N. J., for the past 11 years, has tentatively accepted a call to the Baptist Church, Livingston, N. J., his work to begin in September.

William H. Bromage, formerly of the financial staff of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, has gone over to the financial desk of the Chicago Tribune.

J. D. E. Jones, Jr., and his family have moved from Providence to 1474 Pawtucket Avenue, East Providence.

Rev. Skillman E. Myers of Burlington, Vt., was to take a leading part in the first "Institute of Churchmanship" to be held by the Unitarian Laymen's League at the Isles of Shoals the second week in July. Myers was to preach the sermon in connection with conferences and demonstration of the "New Partnership" plan of the League.

1924

Raymond A. Bergstrom, who is with PWA in Washington, is living at 5 Everett Street, Kensington, Md.

Clarence C. Chaffee, new athletic director at Riverdale Country School for Boys, will continue to act as assistant in football, head coach of basketball and tennis, and will handle all correctives and all schedules, as well as the intramural program. He will study at Columbia this summer, with his eyes on an A.M. next year.

Edward R. Place, with N. W. Ayer & Son in charge of publicity for the State of Maine, reports a change of address to 12 Walnut Street, Watertown, Mass.

William Laurans and Mrs. Laurans, married in the spring, are now at home at 119 Plymouth Street, New Bedford, Mass., where Laurans is in the wholesale grocery business.

Jack Lubrano is president of the Cranston Teachers' Association which is carrying on an active campaign to restore teachers' salaries to pre-depression levels.

George M. Newton is manager of Jack Huff's Restaurant, one of the popular Chicago eating places at 120 North LaSalle Street.

1925

Addison B. Poland is a mortgage loan inspector for the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America at 233 Broadway, Room 2700, New York City. Ad's preferred mail address is 34 Plymouth Road, Summit, N. J.

Ralph J. Lockwood sets himself down as merchant at 533 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y., where he is living at 567 Richmond Avenue.

Dr. John R. Cobb, teaching Fellow in orthopedic surgery at the Hospital for Ruptured and Crippled, received the degree of Doctor of Medical Science from Columbia last month. He is also in private practice at 321 East 42nd Street, New York City.

W. Irving Levy was admitted to the New York bar last month. He received the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence from New York Law School in 1931, and is at present in the offices of Charles H. Tuttle, former United States District Attorney. His father is Justice Aaron J. Levy of the New York State Supreme Court. Levy lives at 173 West 78th Street.

1926

George H. Hume is advertising manager of Shartenberg's, Pawtucket department store.

Dr. James C. Callahan, who took his M.D. at Harvard in 1930, is a practicing physician at 2 School Street, Newport, R. I.

Howard G. Lewis has been nominated by Alexander J. Stoddard, superintendent of schools, as a senior high school vice principal in Providence for the next school year. At the Junior-Senior High School Institute of the University of Maine on July 15, 16, Lewis will speak on "Suggested Adaptations of Basic Features in the Providence Guidance Organization to Smaller School Systems."

Edward L. Keene, assistant forester with the United States Forest Service, is at present on duty in Alabama, and is getting his mail at Box 40, Montgomery.

Pasquale J. Marra is a member of the staff of the New Haven, Conn., Post Office, and is living at 129 Hazel St., New Haven.

Lieut. Horace S. Mazet, U. S. M. C., is now on duty at the naval base at San Diego, Calif., where his address is Aircraft 2, North Island.

John M. (Jack) Hurley, who writes under the pen name of Doran Hurley and whose first novel, "Monsignor," was published last February, is living at 8 Perkins Manor, Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Cabot D. Kendall will become instructor in history at Bloomfield, N. J., High School next September. He has been teaching at Montclair, N. J., Academy.

1927

Albert L. Copeland, principal of Samuel Slater Junior High School, Pawtucket, is again vice president of the Rhode Island Secondary School Principals' Association.

Frederick B. (Fritz) Wiener, in the office of the Solicitor, Department of the Interior, Washington, has changed his house address to 1756 N. Rhoades St., Colonial Village, Clarendon, Va., which after the first of this month became Arlington, Va. "Any time you-all come down," said Fritz in a recent note, "there will be some real Southern hospitality dispensed."

Ralph Fulton, recently removed from Cleveland to Malden, Mass., where he is engaged in property management for the U. S. Rubber Company at 184 Commercial Street, has taken a house at 69 Saltonstall Road, West Medford, Mass.

John G. Greene reports his permanent address to be 6 Chestnut Street, Boston.

Kenyon W. Glor is in the investment business in association with Borton & Gates, and his offices are in the Hanna Building, Cleveland. Ken's second child, a girl, arrived in May.

Arthur B. Cleaves has left the Faculty of Lafayette College to become geologist on the Topographic and Geologic Survey, U. S. Department of the Interior. His headquarters will be at Harrisburg, Pa. There's a note on the arrival of Art's son in another column.

W. E. Fanning, Jr., reports a change of mail address to 28 Marine Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Ernest S. Brown has been principal of the Sharon, Mass., High School during the past year.

1928

Philip H. Van Gelder is executive secretary of the Marine and Shipworkers Union, with his office in Camden, N. J.

John W. Aldrich, superintendent of the Ornithology Department of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, reports the birth of an 8-pound baby girl on May 5, 1936, making a grand total of two daughters. He positively asserts that neither will attend Pembroke.

Robert F. Berwald, Jr., received a raise in pay when he rose recently from Sergeant to Second Lieutenant of Troop A, 107th Ohio Cavalry Regiment, Ohio National Guard. Serving under Lieut. Berwald are first class privates Roy H. Smith, Jr., '34 and Jack Whittemore '35.

W. G. Stuart Sherman received the LL.B. degree from Georgetown University last Commencement. Stuart has been working in Washington and studying at Georgetown Law School for several years. He took his first year in the law at Harvard.

Frederic R. Knipe is an investment counselor, with his office at 151 Merrimack St., Haverhill, Mass.

Nelson B. Jones and his growing family have recently moved to 134 Tenth St., Providence.

Harold K. Halpert is in merchandising work with Meyers & Meyers, 182 Grand Street, Waterbury, Conn.

William G. Halewood, mechanical engineer with Petroleum Heat and Power Co., New York City, asks that his mail be sent to 126 Rich Avenue, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

John L. Cannon, Jr., has come out of the hills of Kentucky, where he was operating a barrel stave lumber mill, and is now living in Cleveland.

Frank H. Westlake, Jr., happily married these many years, recently moved from Cleveland to 930 West 6th St., Erie, Pa. We report the arrival of his daughter in another column.

The Voice of the Queen

DON BALL '25, Block Island born and Brown bred, broadcast the maiden trip of the Queen Mary from England to this country, having been sent abroad by the Columbia Broadcasting System to handle the assignment. Don is assistant manager of production for the system and we therefore do not hear his voice on the air as often as we should like to.

John F. Heffernan, athletic director and coach at Green Mountain Junior College, Poultney, Vt., had an unusually successful year, according to the Rutland Herald. The Green Mountain football eleven was undefeated, "while the basketball team won 13 out of 16 contests, the baseball team 12 out of 15 contests. The above teams were undefeated in Vermont competition—the first time the junior college has compiled such a record." Jack and Mrs. Heffernan will spend part of the summer in Lynn, Mass., and Jack will continue work for his Master of Education degree at Boston University.

1929

Rev. Powel M. Dawley, ordained a priest of the Episcopal Church by Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, D.D., presiding Episcopal Bishop of America, in Providence, May 21, will study for his doctorate at Cambridge University, England, as a Fellow of Episcopal Theological School, from which he received his B.D. last month. He has been curate at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, Mass.

Robert G. Shanklin is sales supervisor for Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Inc., with his office at 154 Admiral St., Bridgeport, Conn.

Noel Corbridge, teacher at the Garden City, N. Y., High School, has changed his house address to 66 Fourth Ave., Mineola, N. Y.

Philip A. White is an engineer in the development department of the Gamewell Company, Newton Upper Falls, Mass.

Donald C. Marschner is with Shell Eastern Petroleum Products, Inc., at 50 West 50th Street, New York City, and is living at 100 Pelham Rd., New Rochelle, N. Y.

L. Everett Johnson is secretary of the New England Association of Beta Theta Pi.

Stephen G. Crilly is associated with the law firm of Concannon & Dillon, with offices in the Title & Trust Bldg., Chicago.

Russell V. Jones, claim adjuster for the Travelers' Insurance Co., was recently transferred from Akron to Canton, O.

Albert W. Marten is a junior trust officer with the Cleveland Trust Company. Mr. and Mrs. Marten reported the arrival of a daughter on May 8. They live at 14422 Superior Road, East Cleveland, O.

Frederick H. W. Bentley has moved his law office from 405 to 806 Fidelity Bldg., Cleveland. Fred is a recently promoted Sergeant in Troop B, 107th Ohio Cavalry, and gives military commands to privates Al Griffiths '33 and Bob Knapp '34.

Paul P. Johnson is employed by Thonipson Products, Inc., Cleveland.

Carl H. Brown, Jr., is one of the Republican nominees for State Representative from Cuyahoga County, Ohio, having been named at the primary election held in May. Carl is practising law, with his office at 702 Hickox Building, Cleveland.

1930

Edward L. Sittler, Jr., and Mrs. Sittler (they were married in May) are now at home at 90 Stewart Avenue, Uniontown, Pa. Incidentally, Ed is a member of the Uniontown school board, and "is active in many phases of the church and civic life of the community," according to the Uniontown News.

Dr. Donald A. Kelly is an interne at St. Luke's Hospital in Cleveland.

Carl E. Griese, budget supervisor with the B. F. Goodrich Company, was recently transferred from Omaha to Chicago.

One Manager to Another

June 2, 1936

Manager of Brown University
Baseball Association,
Brown University,
Providence, R. I.

My Dear Sir:—

I am sure you can realize the thrill that I developed on reading in the Sunday newspapers, the victory of Brown over Harvard in that splendid game.

As manager of the team in my Junior year, 1884, I had the pleasure of conducting that small, but sturdy aggregation of nine men and one substitute in the rounds of the old league with Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth and Amherst. We won 50 percent of our games.

Will you kindly convey to the Captain, and through him, to the members of the baseball squad, the cordial congratulations of myself and many of those in the vicinity of New York City, who are following this year's series with very great interest?

I remain,

Cordially and sincerely yours,

Norman S. Dike '85

Homer Chapek is a title examiner with the Cuyahoga Abstract Title & Trust Co., Cleveland.

R. B. Dimond, with E. A. Smith Co., investments, 31 Nassau Street, New York City, is now living in Rumson, N. J.

1931

Charles E. Payne sets himself down as personnel manager, WPA, with his office at 114 East 32nd Street, and his home at 66 Bank Street, New York City.

Abbott Hutchinson and his brother, W. F. Hutchinson '33, are in the real estate and insurance business at 209 Security Trust Building, Lynn, Mass., under the name of Hutchinson Brothers.

Joseph A. Micucci, with Dictograph Products Company, New York City, writes that his present house address is 3348 Boulevard, Jersey City, N. J., but that he intends to change it in September.

Walter W. Niles, with Chemical Bank & Trust Company at 165 Broadway, New York City, is living at 66 Bank Street—where Charlie Payne is also a resident.

Kenneth A. Henn has been transferred from Cleveland to Los Angeles, where he is assistant manager of Warner & Swasey Company for the district west of the Rockies. His office is at 1118 Santa Fe Ave., Los Angeles. The Swasey of Ken's company is Ambrose Swasey '34, honorary.

Arthur Novogroski is in the law offices of Hartigan, Mullen & Roberts, 1106 Turks Head Building, Providence.

George Main has left the Boston office for the New York office of Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. at 10 East 40th Street.

Ugo Gasbarro, who left college before getting his degree to study law at Boston University Law School and who recently became a member of the Rhode Island bar, was guest at a dinner given June 15 at the Biltmore Hotel to felicitate him on beginning his career as a lawyer.

Dr. B. I. Sherman is an interne at the Municipal Hospital, Hartford, Conn.

Roy W. Howard, headmaster of St. Dunstan's School, Providence, is the newly-elected treasurer of the Rhode Island Secondary School Principals' Association.

Win Scott has been put on the air by the Providence Journal, preparing and giving news flashes twice a day over the radio. He has been relieved of his duties as movie critic but continues as assistant literary editor.

1932

Dr. Joseph Edward Cannon has begun service as an interne at the Walter Reed General Hospital Medical Centre in Washington after appointment by the Surgeon General of the United States that took effect July 1. When Joe received his M.D. from Tufts Medical last month, it was cum laude.

George Lawton and Chet Lawton are both in sales work, we hear, George in Fall River and Chet in Newport, where George lives at 11 Summer Street and Chet at 17 Cranston Avenue.

Don Ewing is an accountant with the Glidden Company, Cleveland, O.

Clifford H. Pearce and Franklin V. Taylor received the degrees of Doctor of Philosophy from Princeton last month. Their subject was psychology.

C. R. McManus is with McManus Motors, Inc., dealer in Chrysler and Plymouth motor cars, at 450 Talbot Avenue, Dorchester, Mass.

1933

Ed Boettiger will be an assistant in biology at Harvard next academic year. He already has his Master's degree, and is studying for his doctorate in biology.

Russ Dolan has come back to Providence to be non-user sales supervisor for the New England T. & T. Company, for which he has been working in various parts of New England for the past three years. His mail address is 290 River Avenue.

Ned F. Parish is assistant manager of the Cleveland office of United Air Lines.

Rev. Sheldon T. Harbach, ordained deacon of the Episcopal Church by Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, D.D. '12, honorary, in Providence May 21, and graduated from Episcopal Theological School last month, will go soon to Ann Arbor, Mich., where he will establish a new centre for the clinical training of theological students at the University Hospital. Harbach has spent two summers at Worcester State Hospital and two winters at Massachusetts General Hospital studying the work of ministry with the sick.

Rev. William E. Arnold, ordained with Harbach in May and graduated with him last month, is president of the Woonsocket Civic Forum. During his course at the seminary he was lay reader at St. Anthony's Church, Woonsocket.

Austin Marsh is working for Barnard, Sumner & Putnam Co., department store, 327 Main Street, Worcester, Mass.

Alvin Natelson is in the directory department of The Boys Outfitter, a trade publication in the boys' apparel field. He got his start in advertising on the Brown Daily Herald (advt).

Rev. Earle M. Hochwald, acting pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton, Mass., has been invited to become pastor. If he accepts, he will take charge in September.

1934

Chester H. Page has won another scholarship in the Yale Graduate School for 1936-37. This is his third award for the advanced work he is doing in physics at Yale.

Doug Huntress is with the Northern Illinois Coal Corporation at 2011 Straus Building, Chicago.

Bill Brines is on the sales staff of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, with his headquarters on Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J. Bill is doing advanced work at New York University.

Tom Casey and Mrs. Casey are settled in their new home at 14 Carleton Street, Providence. Tom is statistician with the Rhode Island Division of Public Health.

Dick Fried is a buyer for M. H. Lamson, variety chain stores, with his office at 1393 Sixth Avenue, New York City.

Oscar Hammer is at present attached to the Portland, Me., office of Koppers Products, division of Koppers Gas & Coke Corp.

Bill Johnson is a salesman with the Mechanical Division, U. S. Rubber Products, Inc., with his office at 5th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia.

Dick Kingerley, Jr., was instructor in the Chemistry Department, Rhode Island State College, the past academic year under Professor Joseph W. Ince '02.

Bill Mombert is working in the men's furnishings department, B. Altman & Co., 5th Avenue and 34th Street, New York City. Bill commutes from Stamford, Conn., where he lives at 161 South Street, Apt. 3B.

Fred Morse is selling insurance for the Home Life Insurance Company of New York and is living at 17920 Crest Lane, Lakewood, O.

Jim Sedgwick is learning the business with Russell, Burdall & Ward Bolt & Nut Co., Port Chester, N. Y.

Henry Stanton is an inspector for the Factory Insurance Association, Hartford, Conn. He worked for nearly a year as student apprentice at Browne & Sharpe Mfg. Co., Providence, before going with his present company.

Eliot Tarlin is branch manager in Norwood, Mass., for Building Material Wholesalers, Inc., building supplies, and is living at 24 Claffin Road, Brookline, Mass.

Vic Vernon is an accounts man with Marsh & McLennan, Inc., insurance brokers, 70 Pine Street, New York City.

Merrill (Bud) Wright, Jr., is a salesman in the commercial division of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, Carnegie Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.

1935

Frank Cutter is cashier with Universal Carloading & Distributing Co., 214 Canal Street, Providence.

Vin Demase is an engineer with Barker & Turroff, 739 Grosvenor Building, Providence.

Bob Eddy (Delta Phi) was a student in the Department of Chemistry, Graduate School, Princeton, during the past academic year, while Bob Eddy (Delta U) is in the Actuarial Department, Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, Hartford, Conn.

Ralph H. Seguire, Jr., who has finished his first year at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, is touring the country with a quartet from the school, and will see a lot of the United States before returning to Rochester in the fall.

Lewis (Emmy) Emerson is an engineer with the Foxboro Co., Pyrometer Division.

He Dug up Artemis

RICHARD H. HOWLAND '31, attached to the American School of Classical Studies, Athens, recently made an important find while excavating in the Athenian agora during past weeks. The New York Times described the find as a "beautiful fourth century statuette of the goddess Artemis. The figure is about a foot high and is clothed in an Ionic chiton buttoned on the arms. The skirt is pulled up over the girdle in a large loop, leaving the legs free for the chase. A deerskin, with flecks of red paint visible on it, is draped over a shoulder."

Tom Kelley, Jr., has been Arnold Archaeological Fellow at Princeton during the past academic year.

Maurice Knott is in the research department of the New Departure Mfg. Co., ball bearings, coaster brakes, Bristol, Conn., where his address is 115 North Street.

Bernie Lewis, Brown's newest Rhodes Scholar, will enter Wadham College, Oxford University, next fall. He has been assistant in biology at Johns Hopkins the past year, and will do some work in the American Museum of Natural History, New York City, before sailing for England.

Al Mignone is a calculator in the Engineering Department, Builders Iron Foundry, Providence, and Bill Frazell is a sales engineer with the same company.

Ray Miller is working for the Underwood Elliott Fisher Company, typewriters, adding machines, and the like, in the Hartford, Conn., factory.

Ed Perkins is an assistant cashier with Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., at 117 Heath Street, Boston.

Fred Rea is manager of the studio which PhotoReflex Studios, Inc., has in the Fox department store, Hartford, Conn.

M. H. (Nick) Nickerson is working for the Congdon & Carpenter Company, steel merchants, 405 Promenade Street, Providence.

Nick Misichia has completed his first year at the School of Medicine, Western Reserve University, Cleveland, where he has been living at the Phi Chi house.

Dick Jamison is in the loan department of the Equitable Trust Company, Baltimore, with his office at present in the Lexington Street branch of the bank. Dick lives at One Elmhurst Road, Roland Park, Baltimore.

Johnnie Jameson, Jr., is working for the Toledo Trust Company, and living at 2731 Rathbun Drive, Toledo, O.

Jim Hines is a clerk in the U. S. Senate Post Office, Washington, and is also studying at Georgetown Law School.

Bunny Fancher, who has been a graduate assistant in engineering at Brown during the past year, will go with General Electric Company next month to begin the company's training course for engineers.

George Fisk is with Booth American Shipping Corporation, 17 Battery Place, New York City.

Dick Erstein is learning the business with James Talcott, Inc., factors and private bankers, 225 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

ENGAGEMENTS

MISS CLARICE EVANS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans of Saylesville to Ronald B. Smith '23 of Providence.

Miss Laura McEldowney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. McEldowney of Fairfield, Conn., to Richard T. Harriss, Jr., '29, of New York City.

Miss Isabel Gertrude Owen, daughter of Mrs. Henry E. Owen of New York City, to John G. Wright '31 of Upper Montclair, N. J.

Miss Grange Banfield Goodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gray Goodman of Montclair, N. J., to Robert R. Rutan '31 of Glen Ridge, N. J.

Miss Carlene Wardwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Wardwell of Belmont, Mass., to Everett C. Mayo, Jr., '31 of Watertown, Mass.

Miss Virginia Beckner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Beckner of Fort Thomas, Ky., to Jerome S. Anderson, 3rd, '31 of Stonington, Conn.

Miss Julia Ayer Oldham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Oldham of Central Falls, to Robert L. Sanderson '32 of Riverside.

Miss Ruth Wallace Mann, daughter of Edward M. Mann of Providence, to George A. Freeman '33 of Bristol, Conn.

Miss Marion Balkcom Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert F. Brooks of Providence, to Herschel Eugene Fowler '34 of Houlton, Me.

Miss Betty Horton, daughter of Elmer S. Horton '10 and Mrs. Horton of Barrington, to Rockwell Gray '34 of Providence.

Miss Vivian V. Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Carlson of Providence, to Dwight B. Fanning '34 of Providence.

Miss Doris Isabelle Coone, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Francis H. Coone of Providence, to Norman A. Smith '35 of Holbrook, Mass.

Miss Lucy Elizabeth Poland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Poland of Providence, to Gregory Allen Slader '35 of New York City.

Miss Carol Ballou Wentworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Wentworth of Providence, to Stanley Henshaw, Jr., '35 of Providence.

Miss Mary Estelle Freeman, daughter of Mrs. Bessie G. Freeman of So. Weymouth, Mass., to Walter D. Harris '35, son of Dr. Herbert E. Harris '07 and Mrs. Harris of Providence.

* * *

WEDDINGS

1909—Edward S. Wells and Miss Elizabeth Phillips, daughter of Mrs. Daisy C. Phillips, were married in St. Albans, N. Y., June 6, 1936. They will make their home in St. Albans.

1921—Frank A. R. Allen and Miss Myrtle Irene Fleming, daughter of Mrs. William J. Fleming, were married May 22, 1936. They are at home at 6 Crescent Rd., Pawtucket, where Mr. Allen is superintendent of schools.

1922—Richard D. Greene and Miss Barbara Eloise Dorr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Dorr, were married in Fayetteville, N. Y., June 19, 1936. After Sept. 1 they will be at home at 511 Scott Avenue, Syracuse.

1929—Richard T. Harriss, Jr., and Miss Laura McEldowney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. McEldowney, were married in Fairfield, Conn., June 15, 1936. They will live in Dallas, Tex.

1931—Sturtevant Woodruff and Miss Patricia Mary Cassils, daughter of Mrs. Sidney Bunting, were married in Ossining, N. Y., June 13, 1936.

1931—Edward M. Read, 3rd, and Miss Caroline Ford, daughter of Mrs. L. Tyler Ford and Professor James Ford of Harvard University, were married in Cambridge, Mass., June 20, 1936. Mrs. Read is a graduate of Radcliffe '35.

1931—Dr. William D. McCarthy and Dr. Katherine Delanty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Delanty of Aberdeen, Wash., were married in New York City, June 13, 1936. Mrs. McCarthy, graduate of the University of Oregon, received her medical degree from the Johns Hopkins University.

1931—Lieut. O. Paul Herzig and Miss Rachel Howard DeWolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. DeWolf, were married in Warren, R. I., June 20, 1936. Joseph G. Merchant '28 was an usher. Lieut. and Mrs. Herzig will live in Boston.

1932—Ralph H. Estes, son of Judge Ralph C. Estes '99 and Mrs. Estes, and Miss Marion Elizabeth Fife, were married in Attleboro, Mass., May 30, 1936. They are living at 13 Lincoln Ave., Attleboro.

1932—Wendell B. Barnes and Miss Lucile Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Wright, were married in Grand Rapids, Mich., June 15, 1936. They will live in Oklahoma City, Okla. Mrs. Barnes is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

1932—Warren A. Pearce and Miss Frances Bowerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Bowerman, were married in Edgewood, R. I., June 6, 1936. Alden Walls '31 was an usher. Mr. and Mrs. Pearce will make their home in Charlotte, N. C.

1933—Rev. Ira J. Martin and Miss Ethel Virginia Augenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Edmond Augenstein of Marion, O., were married in Newton Centre, Mass., June 3, 1936. Both are graduates of Newton Andover Theological Seminary. They will live for the present at 35 Spring Street, Pawtucket.

1933—R. Melbourne Thayer, Jr., and Miss Elizabeth Kribs Cochran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cochran, were married in Hinsdale, Ill., May 9, 1936. Charles K. Thayer '33 was best man for his brother. Mr. and Mrs. Thayer are living in Sedgley Farm, Ill. Mrs. Thayer attended Sweet Briar College in Virginia.

1935—Wallace P. Bishop and Miss Miriam Milligan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Milligan of Quincy, Mass., were married in Montclair, N. J., April 25, 1936. They are living in Montclair.

1935—Gordon H. Salmonsens and Miss Phyllis Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett W. Clarke, were married in Fall River, Mass., June 6, 1936. They are at home on Auburn Road, Millbury, Mass.

1936—William A. Hill, Jr., son of Rev. Dr. William A. Hill '02 and Mrs. Hill, and Miss Edith Mann Volland, daughter of Emil L. Volland, were married in New Rochelle, N. Y., June 16, 1936. James G. France '36 was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hill will live in Burlington, Vt.

1936—John A. Tobin and Miss Elizabeth Garrison, daughter of P. Raymond Garrison, were married Aug. 3, 1935, according to announcement a month ago.

BIRTHS

1920—To Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith of Providence, a second daughter, Deborah Ann, April 18, 1936.

1922—To Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Whitcomb of Bethlehem, Pa., a daughter, Sarah Lowell, June 15, 1936.

1924—To Rev. and Mrs. Paul L. Snyder of Whitingham, Vt., a son, Dederick Longyear, May 4, 1936.

1926—To Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Dixon of Providence, a son, Jeffrey Cutler, June 13, 1936.

1925—To Mr. and Mrs. Newton T. Dana of Providence, a son, Peter Newton, May 21, 1936.

1927—To Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Cleaves of Easton and Harrisburg, Pa., a son, Emery Taylor, May 11, 1936.

1927—To Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Baxter of Providence, a son, John Carrington, June 17, 1936.

1928—To Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Jones, Jr., of Providence, a daughter, Bettina, May 17, 1936.

1928—To Mr. and Mrs. James J. Fanale of Providence, a son, Fraser Partington, May 27, 1936. Mrs. Fanale was Louisa Glen Partington '28, Pembroke.

1928—To Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Westlake, Jr., of Erie, Pa., a daughter on June 9, 1936.

1929—To Mr. and Mrs. Edmund W. Perry of Syracuse, N. Y., a son, James Hathaway, May 31, 1936.

1931—To Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Madison, Jr., of Cleveland Heights, O., a daughter, Sandra Stokes, May 8, 1936.

Those We Mourn

FOUR of Brown's senior alumni have died since Commencement, three of them members of the 50-year class 1886, the reunion of which they had attended in June. They are: Professor Asa Clinton Crowell, Stephen C. Harris, and Edmund G. Thurber. The death of Walter F. Angell '80, early in July, was also widely mourned.

1890

REV. FRANK APPLETON, rector emeritus of Trinity Episcopal Church, Pawtucket, died in Providence, May 8, 1936. For 25 years he played a conspicuous part in the religious life of Pawtucket.

Born in Providence, March 19, 1862, the son of Benjamin and Lillis (Weatherhead) Appleton, he prepared at Mowry & Goff's English and Classical School. He began his church career as lay reader and deacon of St. Thomas's Church, Providence. He received his B.D. degree from Episcopal Theological Seminary in 1892, and after ordination as priest of the Episcopal Church became rector of St. Andrew's Church, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

In 1897 he resigned to go to Trinity Church, Pawtucket, where he continued until his retirement as rector emeritus in 1925. Under him the parish grew strong and flourished. He bought and furnished a parish house, built a memorial cloister and choir room, and made Trinity known

TREES ARE HARD TO REPLACE

— Protect Them —

Annual spraying and pruning are important factors in the preservation of your trees. Expert care is necessary to protect them and maintain their health and existence.

An inspection by our representative may disclose evidence of decay or disease that will destroy your trees if left unchecked. Your trees are worth saving! Over twenty years' experience qualifies us to offer you efficient service in

PRUNING—SPRAYING
SURGERY and EXPERT CONSULTATION

THE L. H. MEADER CO.

Established 1914

PROVIDENCE

75 Westminster St.

RHODE ISLAND

TELEPHONE GASPEE 0556

Stanton S. C. Babcock
Manager

L. H. Meader '09
President

Walter H. Snell, Ph.D. '14
Consultant

and admired throughout the State. Since retiring he had been on a trip around the world and had done missionary work in the diocese.

He was dean of the Pawtucket Convocation of the Episcopal Church, and served on the corporations of Pawtucket Memorial Hospital, Butler Hospital, and Pawtucket Boys' Club. He was chaplain of Butler Hospital, 1905-20, of the Pawtucket Veteran Firemen's Association and Pawtucket Lodge of Elks. In 1908 he went to the Lambeth Conference, London, as chaplain to Bishop William N. McVickar '04, honorary. He was married Dec. 28, 1892, to Lena E. Follett, and there are two surviving children, Mrs. Harold B. Simmons and Robert A. Appleton '23. His second marriage took place Dec. 16, 1926, to Mrs. Emily Halliwell, who also survives. His fraternity was Zeta Psi.

PRESCRIPTIONS

...exactly as written

When a doctor's prescription comes to us for compounding we consider it as a means toward someone's good health. Accordingly we practice utmost accuracy in compounding, using the finest quality ingredients the world affords.

Bring YOUR prescriptions here.

BLANDING'S

155 Westminster St. 6 Wayland Square

Commercial Banking Trust Department

Capital $500,000
Surplus and
Undivided Profits (over) $950,000

BLACKSTONE CANAL NATIONAL BANK

Established 1831

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

20 MARKET SQUARE
PROVIDENCE, R. I.

1890

WILLIAM GROSVENOR ELY, manager of the contract service department of the General Electric Company for 28 years, died suddenly of heart trouble in Charleroi, Belgium, June 14, 1936, while visiting his son, William G. Ely, Jr., '20. He had given "loyal and faithful service to the General Electric Company for 35 years."

Born in Norwich, Conn., June 12, 1869, the son of General William G. Ely '59, and Augusta E. (Greene) Ely, he prepared at Norwich Free Academy, won his Ph.B. at Brown in 1890 and the degree of Master of Engineering at Cornell in 1892. In October, 1892, he joined the testing department of General Electric at Schenectady, transferred to the construction department and engaged in road work. In the fall of 1894 and the spring of 1895 he installed the first large rotary converters at Niagara Falls for the Pittsburgh Reduction Company.

He became assistant superintendent of his department in 1898 and superintendent in 1901. He continued until his retirement in May, 1927. At that time his friends in the company gave him a dinner and a fishing outfit, rod, reel, lines, flies, everything, in fact, that a fisherman feels he must have. "In his many years of service for the Company," said the G. E. Monogram, the house publication, "Mr. Ely has made an enviable number of friends within and outside the organization." Since retirement he had traveled whenever his health permitted.

He was married June 29, 1897, to Miss Alice Clute, who survives, with three sons, W. G. Ely, Jr., '20; Lloyd C. Ely '21 of Lima, Peru; Robert G. Ely of Madison, N. J.; and a sister, Miss Anna Lloyd Ely. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Alpha Delta Phi.

1894

EDWARD FRANCIS GAMWELL, writer, born South Weymouth, Mass., May 22, 1869, the son of Franklin B. Gamwell '60 and Clarissa V. (Maxwell) Gamwell; died Boston, May 10, 1936. He taught English at Brown after graduation and had been in newspaper and advertising work for many years.

He entered Brown from Holliston, Mass., High School, and was an eager and able student. His major study was English. After a year as instructor in English, and two years as managing editor of the Atlantic Medical Weekly, he served from 1896 to 1915 on the editorials staffs of the Cambridge Mass., Chronicle, the Cambridge Tribune, of which he was also owner; the Budget, and the American Cultivator, Boston. Since 1915 he had been in advertising, with free lance writing as his chief occupation in recent years.

He was editor of "Historic Guide to Cambridge," and author of articles in many publications. He had served as secretary of the Class and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He was married June 3, 1897, to Annie E. Phillips, and there was a son, Phillips Gamwell. His brother is Irving H. Gamwell '96 of Pittsfield, Mass.

1897

REV. CHARLES KNOWLES BIDWELL, who died in Middletown, Conn., April 23, 1936, had been ill since 1923, according to information given the Alumni Office by his brother. He had been a Baptist minister for eleven years and a farmer for about the same length of time.

Born in Seller's Landing, Ill., Feb. 4, 1870, the son of Charles K. and Elizabeth (Fallon) Bidwell, he prepared at Cooke Academy. At Brown he preached in neighborhood churches, and was active in religious work. On graduation he entered Rochester Theological Seminary, studied there two years, and then received dismissal to Colgate Theological Seminary, where he completed his training for the Baptist ministry. Ordained in 1900, he held pastorates in many States, from New York to Montana.

At his last charge, Great Falls, Mont., he suffered a nervous breakdown; and in 1911 he returned East to recuperate for a year before setting up as a dairy farmer in New Jersey. He operated his dairy farm in Holland, N. J., until recurring ill health forced him to retire in 1921. He had to give up completely in 1923.

He was married in the spring of 1920 to Miss Edna Rittenhouse, who died in 1923, leaving one son, Charles K. Bidwell, now of Knoxville, Tenn. Also surviving are three brothers, one of whom is C. E. Bidwell of New York City, and four sisters.

1897

WILLIAM BURR HOPKINS, captain of the Brown football teams of 1893 and 1894 and one of the great football players of Brown history, died in Marion, N. Y., Dec. 6, 1935, as a result of injuries received when his horse ran away with him on Nov. 23.

With present Congressman Charles D. Millard '97 he came to Brown from Phillips Academy, Andover, where he had played with the celebrated Frank Hinkey of Yale. He and Millard were outstanding halfbacks on the Brown eleven. He was one of the few players, a contemporary says, who never showed any fear of Hinkey on the field, and who was powerful on offense as well as on defense. Millard shone as a ball carrier when Hopkins led the interference.

Hopkins played a brilliant game in the first Brown-Dartmouth meeting at Springfield, Mass., in 1894. Brown won, 20-4. The Brown schedule of that time was something to give pause. Fifteen games were on it, including two with Yale and two with Harvard. Among the stalwarts who remained alive at the end of the season were Watson, McCarthy, Locke, Robinson, Owen, Smith.

Hopkins was born in Ontario, N. Y., Jan. 1, 1869, the son of Burton J. and Anna C. (Sprague) Hopkins. He remained at Brown for about three years, leaving to go to work as civil engineer with the Pennsylvania Railroad. After ten years with the railroad he worked until the beginning of the World War for various contracting firms. He went overseas with the Y. M. C. A., acting as distributor of motion pictures and equipment for soldiers in camps. He remained in France to liquidate the equipment, and on his return married Jan. 1, 1921, Fanny Schinsing, who survives. Since his marriage he had lived as a gentleman farmer in Williamson and Marion, N. Y. His fraternity was Theta Delta Chi.

1902

D. R. CHARLES RAYMOND AUSTIN, educator, born Albany, N. Y., June 13, 1881, the son of William A. and Florence A. R. (Brett) Austin; died Maplewood, N. J., June 8, 1936, as a result of a heart attack.

Since 1926 he had been head of the Latin Department, West Side High School, Newark. He learned to love Latin while he was a student at Providence Classical High School under Dr. William T. Peck '70. He won the First Lucius Lyon Premium in Latin when he entered Brown, and he majored in Latin and Greek during his four years on the Hill. He was a member of Sock and Buskin and The Brunonian board, and was Class Poet.

He continued work for his A.M., which he received in 1903, and was assistant in Greek, 1903-04. After a year as junior master of Trinity Hall, Washington, Pa., he became a teacher at the New Jersey Normal and Model School, Trenton, and remained until 1914 when he went to South Side High School, Newark, as teacher of Latin. From 1918 to 1922 he was also instructor in philosophy and Latin at Newark Junior College. He had been a reader in Latin for the College Entrance Examinations Board since 1913. Brown awarded him the Ph.D. in Latin in 1912, and during 1928 and 1929 he took courses in education at Columbia. As a teacher he made Latin a living language.

He had been vice president and president of the Newark Schoolmen's Club and vice president of the Newark High School Men's Association, and was a former member of the American Philological Association. He edited "Selections from Latin Poetry" for use of high school students. He was married Aug. 23, 1905, to Miss Hattie Earl Gillen of Newport, who survives, with a sister. His fraternity was Delta Tau Delta.

1902

DR. LOUIS VINCENT CLARKE, born Pawtucket, April 5, 1879, the son of John A. Alice (McNally) Clarke; died Far Rockaway Beach, N. Y., June 5, 1936. He had been a practicing physician in Far Rockaway for 30 years.

He studied at Brown in Freshman year, 1898-99, and transferred to the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia, from which he received the M.D. degree in 1905. Shortly after leaving medical school he opened an office in Far Rockaway and became one of the leading physicians in that part of Long Island.

Surviving are two brothers, Eugene F. Clarke and George F. Clarke of Providence, and four sisters, one of whom is Sister Eugenie Marie of the Sisters of Notre Dame, Lawrence, Mass. Dr. Clarke was buried in St. Mary's Cemetery, Pawtucket.

1932

JAMES MORAN O'NEILL died in Trenton, N. J., May 29, 1936, after having been stricken at Trenton High School, where he was a substitute teacher. Death was caused by an exhaustion that taxed the heart.

O'Neill was born in Trenton, Aug. 1, 1910, the son of John N. and Mary C. (Moran) O'Neill. He came to college from Trenton High School, won preliminary highest honors, was a Francis Wayland Scholar, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He received his degree, magna cum laude. He was a shy, reserved chap, whose chief interest was in his studies, especially history. He belonged to the History, Mathematics, Liberal, and Chess Clubs.

Commencement at Pembroke

BY NATALIE BARRINGTON '31

A RECEPTION in honor of Vice-President Albert D. Mead, retiring after 41 years of teaching and administrative work, which was attended by several hundred alumnae and friends, and a banquet for over 400 alumnae and members of the class of 1936 were features of the 28th annual Alumnae Day of Pembroke College held on Saturday, June 13, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry H. Thurlow, 1907.

A heavy downpour, which attended all commencement activities this year, did not keep away the hundreds of alumnae who returned to make this one of the most successful of reunion days. Thirteen classes, those of 1896, 1905, '06, '07, '08, '11, '24, '25, '26, '27, '31, '33, and '35, were the official reunioning classes, but many others held un-official gatherings during the day. Chairman of reunioning classes were Miss Edith H. Williston, '96; Mesdames William J. Crowley, '05; Henry E. Childs, '06; Howard C. Arnold, '07; Albert F. Cappelli, '25; Everett B. Nelson, '26; John F. Waterman, '27; the Misses Mary A. Gorman, '08; Dr. Eva W. Magoon, '11; Lois Campbell, '24; Rosamond H. Danielson, '31; Jean Bauer, '33; and Natalie Smith, '35. Mrs.

Since graduation he had been a practice teacher in Bordentown, N. J. High School, and a substitute teacher, Trenton High School. He is survived by his parents, two brothers, one of whom is John N. O'Neill, Jr., member of the Class of 1936 for one semester, and a sister.

1934

CALDWELL HUGH BROWN, JR., born Zanesville, O., July 25, 1911, the son of Caldwell H. and Frances L. (Ford) Brown; died Zanesville, Feb. 8, 1936. He came to Brown from Lawrenceville.

He left Brown at the end of Freshman year and planned to transfer to Ohio Wesleyan, but went to work for his father in the theatrical business. At the time of his death he was assistant manager of the Shine Theatrical Company at Bucyrus, O. His father and mother survive, and to them the Class gives its sincere sympathy.

Edward E. Bunn '11 served as assistant chairman of Alumnae Day.

Mrs. John H. Williams, president of the Alumnae Association of Brown University, presided at the annual business meeting which opened the day's program. Officers elected at that time to serve for the next two years include Mrs. Sharon O. Brown, Providence, first vice-president; Mrs. Gilbert Verney, East Greenwich, recording secretary; Miss Beatrice F. Kohlberg, Providence, re-elected treasurer. Members of the nominating committee elected to serve one year are Mrs. Joseph P. Allen '14, Pawtucket; Dr. Magel C. Wilder '19, Olneyville; and Miss Isabel Andrews '34, Providence.

Providence National Bank

ESTABLISHED 1791

100 Westminster Street

CAPITAL $1,500,000
SURPLUS $2,000,000

OFFICERS

Moses J. Barber, Chairman of the Board
 Thomas L. Pierce, President
 Earl G. Batty, Vice President and Cashier
 Charles L. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
 Henry H. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
 Charles E. Munyan, Assistant Cashier
 Ida M. Fryer, Assistant Cashier
 Charles M. Smith, III, Trust Officer
 T. I. Hare Powel, Investment Counsel

Directors

William Gammell, Jr. Wilson G. Wing
 Moses J. Barber John Nicholas Brown
 Paul C. DeWolf Thomas L. Pierce
 Frank E. Richmond Lauriston H. Hazard
 Richard S. Aldrich William L. Sweet
 Edward P. Jastram Frederick T. Moses
 Earl G. Batty John B. Lewis
 A. Livingston Kelley Charles C. Marshall
 Member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

A Gift Book for Rhode Islanders

RHODE ISLAND IN VERSE

Compiled by MARY LOUISE BROWN

A Tercentenary Anthology consisting of 260 pages, set in Kenntonian type, beautifully bound in full cloth containing poems about Rhode Island from its early history to the present day.

$2.00 a copy at the book stores or from the publishers

ROGER WILLIAMS PRESS

E. A. JOHNSON Co., 71 Peck St., Providence

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Mrs. L. Palmer Cox '16, retiring recording secretary, announced the following appointments made by the executive board: Mrs. Walter G. Brown '13, chairman of the nominating committee, and Mrs. Raymond L. Vaughn '20, as a member of that committee; Miss Marjorie D. Barbour '16, member of the scholarship committee to serve five years; Miss Alice E. Desmond '23, chairman of the secretarial committee for one year; Mrs. Edward E. Bunn '11, chairman of Alumnae Day for 1936-37; Mrs. William T. Hastings '03, member of the Alumnae Fund Committee, to serve for three years; Mrs. Leslie E. Swain to continue for another year as chairman of the Brown Alumnae Fund Committee; Mrs. Albert F. Cappelli '25, chairman of the Academic Committee; Miss Emma H. Dahlgren '11, member of that committee for five years; Mrs. Joseph W. Nutter '24, chairman of the social activities committee; Mrs. Lincoln R. Arnold '18, member of that committee for three years; Mesdames Horace G. Bissell '95, Joseph H. Cull '09, Lynne A. Hoag '16, Gurney Edwards, '18, and Walter M. Saunders, Jr. '23, members of a committee to nominate candidates to be voted on next year for alumnae representative on the executive committee of Pembroke College.

REPORTS at the business meeting were heard from Miss Marion S. Cole '07, alumnae representative on the executive committee of Pembroke College; Mrs. Gertrude Allen McConnell, executive secretary of the Alumnae Association; Miss Beatrice F. Kohlberg, treasurer; Dean Margaret S. Morriss, who announced the raising of the tuition fee at Pembroke from $350 to $400 stated that such a step places Pembroke in the same category with other leading women's colleges in the country; Mrs. Swain for the Alumnae Fund Committee; Mrs. John F. Heckman, for the academic committee; Mrs. Lincoln R. Arnold for the Social Activities Committee; Mrs. Herbert C. Harris, for the secretarial committee; representatives of Brown Alumnae Clubs in various cities of the United States; from Mrs. Chester Durfee '13, chairman of the alumnae scholarship committee; and from Miss Ruth C. Bate '35, holder of the Emery Fellowship in 1935-36.

Following luncheons held by reunioneering classes on and off campus, class business meetings were held in the early afternoon, preceding the reception. During the reception the Chamber Music Ensemble of the Brown Alumnae Club of Providence, under the direction of Virginia Boyd Anderson, played. In the receiving line in the Crystal Room with Dr. Mead were Dean Morriss, Mrs. Thurlow and Mrs. Williams. Several alumnae, including Mesdames Herbert C. Harris '05, Adolph B. Benson '11, Charles E. Bartlett '06, David Davidson '05, and the Misses Marjorie McCabe '35, Helen M. E. McCarthy '26, Elizabeth Partridge '33, were dressed in colonial costume in recognition of Rhode Island's Tercentenary, and assisted in serving ices.

Miss Marion Midgely '05 served as toast-mistress at the banquet which was held in the auditorium of Alumnae Hall at 7:00. Following dinner Miss Morriss presented the class of 1936 the perfect "36" to Mrs. Williams, who welcomed its members into the Alumnae Association. Short class historics were presented by a representative of each reunioneering class, and Dean Morriss presented her cup to the class of 1911 for having the largest percentage of members back for reunion. Last year the cup went to the class of '02 for the second time.

MISS MORRISS announced also a new award in memory of Miss Isabel Brownson '05, given by her sister Marjorie, of $500 to be given in sums of $25 annually to the class which, in the opinion of a committee, has contributed most to the success of Alumnae Day. Miss Brownson suggested that this year the award be made to the class with the largest percentage of contributors to the Brown Alumnae Fund, and accordingly the class of 1897, with 90.9% contributing, received the award. The class immediately turned its $25 prize over to the Alumnae Fund to be used toward the Emma Bradford Stanton Scholarship.

Mrs. Leslie E. Swain, chairman of the Brown Alumnae Fund Committee, announced that contributions approximating $5300 had been made to the Fund during the past year. This indicates a substantial increase over last year's contributions which totalled approximately $4500. She also presented corsages to the Fund agents from the 13 reunioneering classes, praising their excellent work for the year.

Over $1000 has been raised or contributed as gifts toward the fund for the recon-ditioning of the barn on the new athletic field of Pembroke as a field house. Miss Morriss announced at the dinner. The students have raised $501; the class of 1936 gave $200 as a gift for the building of an indoor fireplace; the Brown Alumnae Club of Providence gave $50; the class of '05, Mrs. James H. Chase, agent, presented a gift of $300 in memory of Miss Isabel Brownson and Mrs. Lida Green Hart, to be used in the construction of an outdoor fireplace, on the new field; and the class of '35 contributed $35.

A special gift to the Alumnae Association of 350 punch glasses by the 13 reunioneering classes was also announced.

Pembroke Chronicle

BY MARY LOUISE HINCKLEY '37

AND so another year at Pembroke has come to an end. Chairs are piled high in the darkened classrooms of Pembroke Hall, and all of the buildings are getting their summer scrubbing. The "perfect '36" has marched down the hill to join the alumnae.

After exams were over Pembroke enjoyed its usual pre-Commencement festivities with the annual Ivy Night dance being the first important event. The campus was brightly lighted with strings of Japanese lanterns, and the terrace of Alumnae Hall, where the midnight senior sing was held, was transformed into an informal lounge. Miss Ruth Adams, Washington, D. C., was chairman of the committee in charge.

At the senior banquet held on the 10th at the Little Red Hen, the guests included Dean Morriss, Miss Abby E. Fiske, honorary member of the class, and Mrs. Margaret Jinks Hall, who entertained the group with readings.

Ivy Day on Friday, the 12th, brought with it overcast skies and sprinkles of rain, but undaunted by the weather the fifty ivy chain bearers led the academically-robed seniors through the class of '00 gates in traditional procession to Alumnae Hall. Dr. Albert D. Mead, retiring vice-president of Brown, took the place of Pres. Clarence A. Barbour, who was unable to attend on account of illness. Speakers at the activities, besides Dean Morriss and Dr. Mead, were Miss Marjorie Hargreaves, Pawtuxet, class president, Miss H. Zelda Fisher, Providence, and Miss Bernice P. Bigelow, Washington, D. C.

In his address Dr. Mead said in part: "I am happy to say that the first class I taught at Brown in 1895 contained Pembroke students. In fact, I liked them so well that I married one-third of the class."

On Saturday, the 28th annual Alumnae Day, the seniors were present at the "garden party," held this year in the Crystal

Room because of a continuous downpour. The party was a reception for Dr. Mead. In the evening the seniors were guests at the Reunion Supper and were impressively inducted into the Alumnae Association.

Sunday brought Baccalaureate and Monday, Commencement, and so '36 is with us no more.

THIS year's class included four students who were the first to be graduated from the newly-established five-year course given jointly by Pembroke and the Rhode Island Training School for Nurses. The course was established to meet the need for graduate nurses properly trained to teach in schools of nursing, and it carries with it the combination of a college degree, the bachelor of science degree, and a nurse's diploma. The first three years are spent at Pembroke and the last two at the training school. Three students were enrolled when the course was established in 1930; today there are 19.

Nine members of the graduating class were daughters of Brown alumnae and alumni. Both parents of two are Brown graduates, the mothers of two are alumnae, and four of the young women have fathers who are sons of Brown. They are: Elizabeth Thurlow, daughter of Harry H. Thurlow, '07, and Ethel Rowland Thurlow, '07; Edith Hall, daughter of Willard Brayton Hall, special student with the class of '06, and Stella Gerber Hall, '11; Theodora Gleason, daughter of Clarence Curtis Gleason, '03; Hope Richardson, daughter of Charles G. Richardson, '00; Charlotte Morse, daughter of Harriet Buck Morse '10.

Ruth Oldfield, daughter of Harry L. Oldfield, '10; Elizabeth Sherman, daughter of Walter Cyrus Sherman, '97; Ruth Curtis, daughter of Dr. Alton K. Curtis, a special student with the class of '02; Helen McCarthy, daughter of Alice Presbrey MacCarthy, '08.

Class Notes

1897—Mabel L. Potter has been elected first vice-president of the Massachusetts State Division of the American Association of University Women.

1904—Louise C. Read has moved to Rumstick Road, Barrington.

1909n—Grace Hartman Brigham is now connected with the Mayflower Hotel, 15 Central Park West, New York City.

1911—Ruth Burroughs Kent has moved to 756 E. Ridgewood Ave., Ridgewood, N. J.

1928—Harriet C. Silver received her teacher's certificate in piano at the recent commencement of the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, Maryland.

1929—Ethel Humphrey Anderson has retired from her position as Executive Secretary of the Social Service Exchange. She and Professor Anderson expect to spend the summer in Vermont and England.

1929—Alice McGrath is head of the Reference Department in the Providence Public Library.

1930—Helen Fickweiler is now in the Reference Department of the Providence Public Library.

1930—Hester Harrington began work at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts on June 1st, equipped with a Ph.D. from Radcliffe and a year's study in Athens.

1930—Verna Follett Spaeth seems to be keeping open house at her home in Middletown, Conn. for the members of her class and other contemporaries. We are always hearing of the delightful weekends which her friends spend there. Among her frequent visitors are Dorothy Hill and Helena P. Hogan, godmothers of Margaret Follett Spaeth, now eighteen months old.

1931—Agnes Fitzgerald has moved to 595 Angell St., Providence.

1931—Eunice I. Nickerson is Registrar for the Hartford Visiting Nurse Association and has charge of the records and statistical work of the office.

1933—Mary J. Irish, formerly a member of the staff of the Council of Social Agencies' Research Bureau, has succeeded Ethel Humphrey Anderson as Executive Secretary of the Social Service Exchange.

1934—Dorothea Carr is assisting in a Teachers College intersession course at Lakeville, Conn. and is staying at the Interlaken Inn.

1935—Eleanor L. Bradley is to stay on at Reed College, Portland, Oregon, until August 1st, where she is working with the head of the Economics Department on a Social Science Research Council survey of season unemployment in Washington and Oregon. From there, after a week in the mountains, she will go to Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio to take a position in the Personnel Department.

1935—Geraldine Dwyer Ciesla will be glad to welcome her friends at the Trade Winds Gift Shop, 275 Main St., Webster, Mass.

WEDDINGS

1923—Agnes Cole was married to Dennis J. Horgan in Middle Granville, N. Y. on June 2, 1936. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Daniel E. Horgan, brother of Mr. Horgan. They will make their home in Three Rivers, Mass.

1928—Arline Gardner Dyer was married to Wesley Jennings Beehr at the Church of the Transfiguration in Edgewood on June 5, 1936.

1928—Julia A. Oldham was married to Robert L. Sanderson '32 in the Broad Street Baptist Church in Central Falls on July 1st. They are living at 136 Arnold St., Riverside.

1931—Mary Marshall Andrew was married to Dr. Robert Bryan Hillsman of Teaneck, N. J. on June 13, 1936 at Grace Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn, N. Y. Her twin sister, Isabel Wallace Andrew '31 was maid of honor. A reception at Sherry's followed the wedding. Dr. and Mrs. Hillsman will make their home in Teaneck, N. J.

1933—Sylvia Kazin was married to Allen Cawett on June 7, 1936 in Springfield, Mass.

1934—Mary Carpenter Ettling was married to William Greene Summer '36 on June 16, 1936 in Springfield, Mass.

1939—Nancy M. Mark was married to Baron Roland Z. Pirity Farkas on her eighteenth birthday, June 16, 1936. Baron Farkas attended Budapest Medical College and was graduated from Lowell Textile Institute.

BIRTHS

1913—To Mr. and Mrs. Eric V. Johnson (Gladys Paine), a second daughter, Ann Rogers, on April 7, 1936. They are living in Danielson, Conn.

1921—To Mr. and Mrs. Vincent A. D'Atri (Sarah Hill), a son, Louis Charles, on May 23, 1936. They are living at 55 Elmerest Ave., Providence.

1923—To Mr. and Mrs. Martin S. Payne (Mary Brown), a son, Martin Kershaw, on May 24, 1935. The Paynes are living at 162 Bowles St., Springfield, Mass.

1924—To Mr. and Mrs. Stephen K. Werlock (Verna McElroy), a daughter, Verna Carol, on December 6, 1935. The Werlocks are occupying their new home at 1431 Martine Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

1925—To Mr. and Mrs. Oliver P. Hodge (Amy Hull), a daughter, Amy, on June 16, 1936. They are living at 420 New England Terrace, Orange, N. J.

1928—To Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Fanale (Louise Partington), a son, Fraser Partington, on May 27, 1936. They are living at 61 Alfred Stone Road, Pawtucket, R. I.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

1929—To Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Howard (Louise Burt), a son, Peter Burt, on May 15, 1936. The Howards are at the Northwood School, Lake Placid Club, N. Y.

1932—To Mr. and Mrs. John Moore Hills, (Sally Ward), a son, Edward Eyerly, on May 19, 1936. The Hills are living in Midland, Texas.

BROWN DIRECTORY

ARTHUR H. BLANCHARD, C. E., '99
CONSULTING ENGINEER

Highway Traffic Control
Highway Transport
Airport Runways and Landing Fields
Highway Engineering
Contract and Patent Lawsuits

Box C. Edgewood Station, Providence

HARRIS and GIFFORD
Certified Public Accountants

at

840 HOSPITAL TRUST BUILDING
PROVIDENCE, R. I.

GA Spee 7272

Audits — — Systems
Taxes

Business Research and Surveys

Townes M. Harris '23

Seth B. Gifford '20

Winship Teachers' Agency

SEND FOR BLANK

6 BEACON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

Alvin F. Pease

Brown Graduate, A. B. & A. M.

advertisers
engraving company

126 DORRANCE ST. PROVIDENCE, R. I.

TELEPHONE GASPEE 7094

"Picturize your Product"

*Heigh ho and cheerio!
We'll get off when the tide gets low.
What do we care—we're high and dry
And Chesterfields—They Satisfy.*

Chesterfield's Mildness and Better Taste
give smokers a lot of pleasure

